The Declaration of Independence is generally regarded as one of the most famous documents in the history of the world. On June 10, 1776, the Continental Congress appointed a committee, consisting of Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston to draft a Declaration of Independence.

Jefferson wrote out a rough draft of the Declaration, which was carefully revised by the committee and presented to Congress for adoption. After some further slight revisions by that body, it was adopted on July 4, 1776, at Philadelphia.

The parchment with the original signatures was deposited with the Department of State when the government was organized in 1789.

The original Declaration of Independence was transferred from the Department of State by direction of the late President Warren G. Harding to the Library of Congress. The Declaration was moved from the Library of Congress in 1952 at the direction of Congress and transferred to the National Archives Building where it rests today.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

MADE BY THE ORIGINAL THIRTEEN STATES IN CONGRESS AT PHILADELPHIA

UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED JULY 4, 1776

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people should relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected, whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither; and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do in the name, and by authority of the good people of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies, are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States, may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honour.

The United States Constitution is the oldest federal constitution in existence. It was so well framed that it has served as the basis for this government for a century and a half. Only once has it been seriously endangered, this being during the Civil War. Many of its principles have been adopted by other countries.

The Constitution was the outgrowth of a convention of delegates from the different states that met in Philadelphia in May, 1787, Rhode Island not being represented. George Washington presided over the convention, which lasted from May to September.

The Constitution was then submitted to the then existing states for ratification, with a provision that it should become effective when ratified by nine states. New Hampshire was the ninth state to ratify, June 21, 1788, and the Constitution went into effect in 1789.

The states ratified the Constitution in the following order: Delaware, Dec. 7; Pennsylvania, Dec. 12, and New Jersey, Dec. 18, 1787; Georgia, Jan. 2; Connecticut, Jan. 9; Massachusetts, Feb. 6; Maryland, Apr. 28; South Carolina, May 23; New Hampshire, June 21; Virginia, June 26, and New York, July 26, 1788; North Carolina, Nov. 21, 1789, and Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

THE CONSTITUTION

Preamble — We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I

Section 1

Legislative powers vested in Congress — All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2

Composition of the House of Representatives — 1. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

Qualifications of Representatives — 2. No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty-five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Apportionment of Representatives and direct taxes—census — *3. [Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a term of Years and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other persons.] The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Repre-

The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second Year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one-third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments [until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.]

Qualification of Senators — 3. No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

Vice President to be President of Senate — 4. The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided.

*The first paragraph of section three of Article I of the Constitution of the United States, and so much of paragraph two of the same section as relates to filling vacancies are amended by the seventeenth amendment to the Constitution.

Selection of Senate Officers; President pro tempore — 5. The Senate, shall chuse their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

Senate to try impeachment — 6. The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Judgment in case of impeachment. — 7. Judgment in Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust, or Profit under the United States: but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law.

SECTION 4

Control of congressional elections — 1. The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of chusing Senators.

Time for assembling of Congress — 2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different day.

SECTION 5

Each House to be the judge of the election and qualifications of its members; regulations as to quorum — 1. Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

Each House to determine its own rules — 2. Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behavior, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member.

Journals and yeas and nays — 3. Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may in their judgment require Secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House on any question shall, at the Desire of one fifth of those Present, be entered on the Journal.

Adjournment — 4. Neither House, during the Session of Congress shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

SECTION 6

Compensation and privileges of Members of Congress — 1. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Incompatible offices; exclusions — 2. No Senator or Representative shall, during the Time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil Office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the Emoluments whereof shall have been encreased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his continuance in Office.

SECTION 7

Revenue bills to originate in House — 1. All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

Manner of passing bills; veto power of President — 2. Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall before it becomes a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But in all such Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by Yeas and Nays, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.

Concurrent orders or resolutions, to be passed by President — 3. Every Order, Resolution, or Vote to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

SECTION 8

General powers of Congress.

The Congress shall have Power — 1. To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

Borrowing of money — 2. To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

Regulation of commerce — 3. To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes.

Naturalization and bankruptcy — 4. To establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization, and uniform Laws on the subject of Bankruptcies throughout the United States.

By Article XVI of the amendments to the Constitution, Congress is given the power to lay and collect taxes on incomes.

Inferior courts — 9. To constitute Tribunals inferior to the supreme Court.

Piracies and felonies — 10. To define and punish Piracies and Felonies committed on the high Seas, and Offenses against the Law of Nations.

War; marque and reprisal — 11. To declare war, grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal, and make Rules concerning Captures on Land and Water.

Armies — 12. To raise and support Armies, but no Appropriation of Money to that Use shall be for a longer Term than two Years.

Navy — 13. To provide and maintain a Navy.

Land and naval forces — 14. To make Rules for the Government and Regulation of the land and naval Forces.

Calling out militia — 15. To provide for calling forth the Militia to execute the Laws of the Union, suppress Insurrections and repel Invasions.

Organizing, arming and disciplining militia — 16. To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the Militia, and for governing such Part of them as may be employed in the Service of the United States, reserving to the States, respectively, the Appointment of the Officers, and the Authority of training the Militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress.

Exclusive legislation over District of Columbia — 17. To exercise exclusive Legislation in all Cases whatsoever, over such District (not exceeding ten Miles square) as may, by Cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the Seat of the Government of the United States, and to exercise like Authority over all Places purchased by the Consent of the Legislature of the State in which the Same shall be, for the Erection of Forts, Magazines, Arsenals, dock-Yards, and other needful Buildings; — and

To enact laws necessary to enforce Constitution — 18. To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any department or Office thereof.

SECTION 9

Migration or importation of certain persons not to be prohibited before 1808 — 1. The Migration or Importation of such Persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the Year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such Importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each Person.

Writ of habeas corpus not to be suspended; exception — 2. The privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public Safety may require it.

Bills of attainder and ex post facto laws prohibited — 3. No Bill of Attainder or ex post facto Law shall be passed.

Capitation and other direct taxes — *4. No capitation, or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census of Enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

ARTICLE II

SECTION 1

The President; the executive power — 1. The executive Power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and, together with the Vice-President, chosen for the same Term, be elected, as follows:

Appointment and qualifications of presidential electors — 2. Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative or Person holding an Office of Trust or Profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector.

Original method of electing the President and Vice-President — *[The Electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by Ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates, and the Votes shall then be counted. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately chuse by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the list the said House shall in like Manner chuse the President. But in chusing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation from each State having one Vote; A quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two-thirds of the States, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice. In every case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors shall be the Vice-President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal Votes, the Senate shall chuse from them by Ballot the Vice-President.]

Congress may determine time of choosing electors and day for casting their votes — 3. The Congress may determine the Time of chusing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes; which Day shall be the same throughout the United States.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

The following amendments from articles I to X inclusive were proposed at the first session of the first Congress of the United States, which was begun and held at the city of New York on the 4th day of March, 1789, and were adopted by the requisite number of states, as follows: New Jersey, Nov. 20, 1789; Maryland, Dec. 19, 1789; North Carolina, Dec. 22, 1789; South Carolina, Jan. 19, 1790; New Hampshire, Jan. 25, 1790; Delaware, Jan. 28, 1790; Pennsylvania, March 10, 1790; New York, March 27, 1790; Rhode Island, June 15, 1790; Vermont, Nov. 3, 1791, and Virginia, Dec. 15, 1791.

The following preamble and resolution preceded the original proposition of the amendments, and as they have been supposed by a high equity judge to have an important bearing on the construction of those amendments, they are here inserted. They will be found in the journals of the first session of the first congress.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES

Begun and held at the city of New York, on Wednesday, the 4th day of March, 1789.

The conventions of a number of the states having, at the time of their adopting the Constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added, and as extending the ground of public confidence in the government will best insure the beneficent ends of its institution:

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, two-thirds of both houses concurring, that the following articles be proposed to the legislature of the several states, as amendments to the constitution of the United States; all or any of which articles, when ratified by three-fourths of the said legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said constitution, namely:

ARTICLE I

Freedom of religion, of speech, of the press, and right of petition — Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II

Right of people to bear arms not to be infringed — A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III

Quartering of troops — No Soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV

Persons and houses to be secure from unreasonable searches and seizures — The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V

Trials for crimes; just compensation for private property taken for public use — No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI

Civil rights in trials for crime enumerated — In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defence.

ARTICLE VII

Civil rights in civil suits — In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried in a jury, shall be otherwise reexamined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII

Excessive bail, fines and punishments prohibited — Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX

Reserved rights of people — The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X

Powers not delegated, reserved to States and people respectively — The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

Judicial power of United States not to extend to suits against a State — The Judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.

[The twelfth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the eighth Congress on December 12, 1803, and was declared in force September 25, 1804.]

ARTICLE XII

Present mode of electing President and Vice-President by electors — The Electors shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate; — The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted; — The person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President, shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

[The thirteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the thirty-eighth Congress on February 1, 1865, and was declared in force December 18, 1865.]

ARTICLE XIII

SECTION 1

Slavery prohibited — Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SECTION 2

Congress given power to enforce this article — Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

[The fourteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the thirty-ninth Congress on June 16, 1866, and was declared in force July 28, 1868.]

ARTICLE XIV

SECTION 1

Citizenship defined; privileges of citizens — All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SECTION 2

Apportionment of Representatives — Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

SECTION 3

Disqualification for office; removal of disability — No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SECTION 4

Public debt not to be questioned; payment of debts and claims incurred in aid of rebellion forbidden — The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SECTION 5

Congress given power to enforce this article — The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

[The fifteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the fortieth Congress on February 27, 1869, and was declared in force March 30, 1870.]

ARTICLE XV

SECTION 1

Right of certain citizens to vote established — The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

SECTION 2

Congress given power to enforce this article — The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

[The sixteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the sixty-first Congress on July 12, 1909, and was declared in force February 25, 1913.]

ARTICLE XVI

Taxes on incomes; Congress given power to lay and collect — The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.

[The seventeenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the sixty-second Congress on May 16, 1912, and was declared in force May 31, 1913.]

ARTICLE XVII

Election of United States Senators; filling of vacancies; qualification of electors — 1. The Senate of the United States will be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislatures.

2. When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate, the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, that the legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointment until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

3. This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the Constitution.

[The eighteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the sixty-fifth Congress, and was declared on January 29, 1919, as going into full force and effect on January 16, 1920.]

*ARTICLE XVIII

Manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors, for beverage purposes, prohibited — 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

Congress and the several States given concurrent power to pass appropriate legislation to enforce this article — 2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Provisions of article to become operative, when adopted by three-fourths of the State — 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

[The nineteenth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the several states by the sixty-sixth Congress on May 19, 1919, and declared in force August 26, 1920.]

ARTICLE XIX

The right of citizens to vote shall not be denied because of sex — The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

[The twentieth amendment, which follows, was proposed to the legislatures of the states by the seventy-second Congress, Senate Joint Res. 14, passed by the House of Representatives on March 1, 1932; the Senate March 2, 1932; signed by the Speaker of the House March 2, 1932, by the Vice-President of the U. S. and the President of the Senate March 3, 1932. Ratification by the thirty-sixth state occurred January 23, 1933. Sections 1 and 2 of the amendment became effective October 15, 1933.]

ARTICLE XX

SECTION 1

Terms of President, Vice-President, Senators and Representatives — The terms of the President and Vice-President shall end at noon on the 20th day of January, and the terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the 3d day of January, of the years in which such terms would have ended if this article had not been ratified; and the terms of their successors shall then begin.

SECTION 2

Time of assembling Congress — The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall begin at noon on the 3d day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SECTION 3

Filling vacancy in office of President — If, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the President, the President elect shall have died, the Vice-President elect shall become President. If a President shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term, or if the President elect shall have failed to qualify, then the Vice-President elect shall act as President until a President shall have qualified; and the Congress may by law provide for the case wherein neither a President elect nor a Vice-President elect shall have qualified, declaring who shall then act as President, or the manner in which one who is to act shall be selected, and such person shall act accordingly until a President or Vice-President shall have qualified.

SECTION 4

Power of Congress in Presidential succession — The Congress may by law provide for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the House of Representatives may choose a President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them, and for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the Senate may choose a Vice-President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them.

SECTION 5

Time of taking effect — Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect on the 15th day of October following the ratification of this article.

The amendment became effective with ratification by Nevada on February 10, 1967.]

ARTICLE XXV

SECTION 1

Vice President to become President — In case of the removal of the President from office or of his death or resignation, the Vice President shall become President.

SECTION 2

President to nominate Vice President when vacancy in office of Vice President — Whenever there is a vacancy in the office of the Vice President, the President shall nominate a Vice President who shall take office upon confirmation by a majority vote of both Houses of Congress.

SECTION 3

President unable to discharge duties Vice President to be Acting President — Whenever the President transmits to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, and until he transmits to them a written declaration to the contrary, such powers and duties shall be discharged by the Vice President as Acting President.

SECTION 4

President unable to discharge duties determined by Vice President or as Congress may by law provide — Whenever the Vice President and a majority of either of the principal officers of the executive departments or of such other body as Congress may by law provide, transmit to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives their written declaration that the President is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Vice President shall immediately assume the powers and duties of the office as Acting President.

Thereafter, when the President transmits to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that no inability exists, he shall resume the powers and duties of his office unless the Vice President and a majority of either the principal officers of the executive department or of such other body as Congress may by law provide, transmit within four days to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives their written declaration that the President is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office. Thereupon Congress shall decide the issue, assembling within forty-eight hours for that purpose if not in session. If the Congress, within twenty-one days after receipt of the latter written declaration, or, if Congress is not in session, within twenty-one days after Congress is required to assemble, determines by two-thirds vote of both Houses that the President is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Vice President shall continue to discharge the same as Acting President; otherwise, the President shall resume the powers and duties of his office.

[The twenty-sixth amendment which follows was proposed at the first session of the ninety-second Congress beginning January 21, 1971. STATUS OF ACTION ON PROPOSED FEDERAL CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Department of State, Washington, May 1, 1939

By Joint Resolution of Congress, June 2, 1924, the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States was proposed:

"Section 1. The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age."

"Section 2. The power of the several States is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of the State laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by the Congress."

PART FIRST

BILL OF RIGHTS

Article 1st. [Equality of Men; Origin and Object of Government.] All men are born equally free and independent: Therefore, all government, of right, originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 65 NH 113, 86 NH 597, 89 NH 428, 96 NH 423, 102 NH 215, 105 NH 366.

[Art.] 2d. [Natural Rights.] All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights — among which are, the enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing, and protecting, property; and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness.

Note. — The abbreviation "Art" was first inserted in this and following articles of the Bill of Rights in General Statutes, 1867.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 53 NH 398, 54 NH 117, 54 NH 590, 60 NH 219, 67 NH 1, 71 NH 552, 72 NH 95, 73 NH 31, 75 NH 27, 77 NH 581, 87 NH 64, 87 NH 68, 94 NH 148, 102 NH 236.

[Art.] 3d. [Society, its Organization and Purposes.] When men enter into a state of society, they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society, in order to ensure the protection of others; and, without such an equivalent, the surrender is void.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 60 NH 219, 71 NH 552, 89 NH 54, 97 NH 91, 105 NH 355.

[Art.] 4th. [Rights of Conscience Unalienable.] Among the natural rights, some are, in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or received for them. Of this kind are the Rights of Conscience.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 59 NH 219, 89 NH 54, 100 NH 436.

[Art.] 5th. [Religious Freedom Recognized.] Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained, in his person, liberty, or estate, for worshipping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience; or for his religious profession, sentiments, or persuasion; provided he doth not disturb the public peace or disturb others in their religious worship.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 58 NH 240, 59 NH 219, 64 NH 48, 68 NH 380, 76 NH 393, 89 NH 54, 91 NH 137, 97 NH 352, 99 NH 519, 100 NH 436.

[Art.] 6th. [Morality and Piety.] As morality and piety, rightly grounded on high principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay, in the hearts of men, the strongest obligations to due subjection; and as the knowledge of these is most likely to be propagated through a society, therefore, the several parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies shall at all times have the right of electing their own teachers, and of contracting with them for their support or maintenance, or both. But no person shall ever be compelled to pay towards the support of the schools of any sect or denomination. And every person, denomination or sect shall be equally under the protection of the law; and no subordination of any one sect, denomination or persuasion to another shall ever be established.

NOTE. — This article amended 1968.

Annotation — 2 NH 20, 53 NH 9, 56 NH 508, 58 NH 170, 66 NH 207, 75 NH 420, 75 NH 560, 76 NH 393, 88 NH 394, 93 NH 301, 99 NH 519.

[Art.] 7th. [State Sovereignty.] The people of this state have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent state; and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right, pertaining thereto, which is not, or may not hereafter be, by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in congress assembled.

Annotation — 66 NH 362, 90 NH 472, 105 NH 286.

[Art.] 8th. [Accountability of Magistrates and Officers.] All power residing originally in, and being derived from, the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents, and at all times accountable to them.

Annotation — 66 NH 362, 67 NH 1, 90 NH 472.

[Art.] 9th. [No Hereditary Office or Place.] No office or place, whatsoever, in government, shall be hereditary — the abilities and integrity requisite in all, not being transmissible to posterity or relations.

Annotation — 52 NH 581, 60 NH 219, 65 NH 113, 86 NH 597, 88 NH 484, 89 NH 314, 90 NH 472, 99 NH 33, 101 NH 527.

[Art.] 11th. [Elections and Elective Franchise.] All elections ought to be free, and every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect, and be elected, into office; but no person shall have the right to vote or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state who shall not be able to read the constitution in the English language and to write; provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to any person prevented solely by a physical disability from complying with its requisitions, nor to any person who now has the right to vote; and provided further that no person shall have the right to vote, or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state who shall have been convicted of treason, bribery, or any wilful violation of the election laws of this state, or of the United States; but the supreme court may, on notice to the attorney-general restore the privileges of an elector to any person who may have forfeited them by conviction of such offenses. The general court shall have power to provide by law for voting by qualified voters who at the time of biennial or state elections, or of the primary elections therefor, or of city elections are absent from the city or town of which they are inhabitants, or who by reason of physical disability are unable to vote in person, in the choice of any officer or officers to be elected or upon any question submitted at such election. The right to vote shall not be denied to any person because of the non-payment of any tax.

Note. — First proviso inserted, 1903; second proviso inserted 1912. The last sentence was added in 1942 and amended in 1956, and 1968.

Annotation — 83 NH 589, 97 NH 452, 99 NH 540, 101 NH 420, 101 NH 429, 104 NH 100, 104 NH 108.

[Art.] 12th. [Protection and Taxation Reciprocal.] Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it, in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property; he is therefore bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service when necessary. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him, or applied to public uses, without his own consent, or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of this state controllable by any other laws than those to which they, or their representative body, have given their consent.

Note. — Amended 1964.

Annotation — 1 NH 111, 2 NH 22, 3 NH 524, 4 NH 565, 7 NH 35, 8 NH 398, 10 NH 369, 11 NH 19, 17 NH 47, 35 NH 134, 27 NH 183, 36 NH 404, 47 NH 444, 50 NH 591, 51 NH 504, 54 NH 590, 56 NH 386, 56 NH 514, 58 NH 108, 58 NH 538, 59 NH 164, 59 NH 260, 59 NH 480, 60 NH 219, 60 NH 342, 60 NH 522, 61 NH 624, 62 NH 66, 65 NH 113, 69 NH 1, 69 NH 443, 70 NH 344, 72 NH 93, 72 NH 305, 72 NH 531, 74 NH 89, 74 NH 517, 74 NH 552, 75 NH 258, 75 NH 513, 76 NH 588, 76 NH 609, 77 NH 63, 78 NH 387, 82 NH 153, 82 NH 154, 84 NH 1, 85 NH 562, 86 NH 597, 88 NH 63, 89 NH 40, 89 NH 54, 89 NH 428, 90 NH 347, 90 NH 472, 93 NH 354, 93 NH 448, 94 NH 148, 95 NH 291, 96 NH 337, 97 NH 497, 98 NH 211, 98 NH 305, 99 NH 33, 99 NH 161, 101 NH 154, 101 NH 441, 102 NH 280, 103 NH 268, 103 NH 281, 103 NH 325, 105 NH 317, 106 NH 180, 106 NH 202, 106 NH 237, 106 NH 330, 107 NH 89, 108 NH 18.

[Art.] 13th. [Conscientious Objectors not Compelled to Bear Arms.] No person, who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms, shall be compelled thereto.

Note. — Amended 1964.

Annotation — Smith NH 1.

[Art.] 14th. [Legal Remedies to be Free, Complete, and Prompt.] Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property, or character; to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely, and without any denial; promptly, and without delay; comformably to the laws.

Annotation — 25 NH 537, 61 NH 607, 65 NH 113, 77 NH 307, 86 NH 597, 97 NH 239, 98 NH 517, 104 NH 33, 106 NH 314.

[Art.] 15th. [Right of Accused.] No subject shall be held to answer for any crime, or offense, until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him; or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself; to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defense, by himself, and counsel. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land. Every person held to answer in any crime or offense punishable by deprivation of liberty shall have the right to counsel at the expense of the state if need is shown; this right he is at liberty to waive, but only after the matter has been thoroughly explained by the court.

[Art.] 16th. [Former Jeopardy; Jury Trial in Capital Cases.] No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offense. Nor shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment, (excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service) without trial by jury.

Annotation — 67 NH 274, 80 NH 394, 98 NH 149, 98 NH 382, 103 NH 32, 105 NH 260.

[Art.] 17th. [Venue of Criminal Prosecutions.] In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts, in the vicinity where they happened, is so essential to the security of the life, liberty, and estate, of the citizen, that no crime or offense ought to be tried in any other county than that in which it is committed; — except in cases of general insurrection in any particular county, when it shall appear to the judges of the superior court, that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the offense may be committed, and upon their report, the legislature shall think proper to direct the trial in the nearest county in which an impartial trial can be obtained.

Note. — "Legislature" was substituted for "assembly," 1793.

Annotation — 20 NH 250, 56 NH 175, 61 NH 423, 66 NH 488, 77 NH 287.

[Art.] 18th. [Penalties to be Proportioned to Offenses; True Design of Punishment.] All penalties ought to be proportioned to the nature of the offense. No wise legislature will affix the same punishment to the crimes of theft, forgery, and the like, which they do to those of murder and treason. Where the same undistinguishing severity is exerted against all offenses, the people are led to forget the real distinction in the crimes themselves, and to commit the most flagrant with as little compunction as they do the lightest offenses. For the same reason a multitude of sanguinary laws is both impolitic and unjust. The true design of all punishments being to reform, not to exterminate mankind.

Note. — The words "those of" following the word "do" in the third sentence, stricken out, 1793.

The word "offenses" in the third sentence was substituted for "dye," 1793.

Annotation — 80 NH 1.

[Art.] 19th. [Searches and Seizures Regulated.] Every subject hath a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches and seizures of his person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. Therefore, all warrants to search suspected places, or arrest a person for examination or trial in prosecutions for criminal matters, are contrary to this right, if the cause or foundation of them be not previously supported by oath or affirmation; and if the order, in a warrant to a civil officer, to make search in suspected places, or to arrest one or more suspected persons or to seize their property, be not accompanied with a special designation of the persons or objects of search, arrest, or seizure; and no warrant ought to be issued; but in cases, and with the formalities, prescribed by law.

Note. — This article was substituted for original Article 19, 1793.

[Art.] 24th. [Militia.] A well regulated militia is the proper, natural, and sure defense, of a state.

[Art.] 25th. [Standing Armies.] Standing armies are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be raised, or kept up, without the consent of the legislature.

[Art.] 26th. [Military Subject to Civil Power.] In all cases, and at all times, the military ought to be under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

Annotation — 102 NH 75.

[Art.] 27th. [Quartering of Soldiers.] No soldiers in time of peace, shall be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner; and in time of war, such quarters ought not to be made but by the civil magistrate, in a manner ordained by the legislature.

[Art.] 28th. [Taxes, by Whom Levied.] No subsidy, charge, tax, impost, or duty, shall be established, fixed, laid, or levied, under any pretext whatsoever, without the consent of the people, or their representatives in the legislature, or authority derived from that body.

[Art.] 29th. [Suspension of Laws by Legislature Only.] The power of suspending the laws, or the execution of them, ought never to be exercised but by the legislature, or by authority derived therefrom, to be exercised in such particular cases only as the legislature shall expressly provide for.

[Art.] 30th. [Freedom of Speech.] The freedom of deliberation, speech, and debate, in either house of the legislature, is so essential to the rights of the people, that it cannot be the foundation of any action, complaint, or prosecution, in any other court or place whatsoever.

[Art.] 33rd. [Excessive Bail, Fines, and Punishments Prohibited.] No magistrate, or court of law, shall demand excessive bail or sureties, impose excessive fines, or inflict cruel or unusual punishments.

Annotation — 1 NH 374, 25 NH 537, 99 NH 33, 100 NH 436.

[Art.] 34th. [Martial Law Limited.] No person can, in any case, be subjected to law martial, or to any pains or penalties by virtue of that law, except those employed in the army or navy, and except the militia in actual service, but by authority of the legislature.

[Art.] 35th. [The Judiciary; Tenure of Office, etc.] It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws, and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as impartial as the lot of humanity will admit. It is therefore not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people, that the judges of the supreme judicial court should hold their offices so long as they behave well; subject, however, to such limitations, on account of age, as may be provided by the constitution of the state; and that they should have honorable salaries, ascertained and established by standing laws.

PART SECOND

FORM OF GOVERNMENT

Article 1st. [Name of Body Politic.] The people inhabiting the territory formerly called the province of New Hampshire, do hereby solemnly and mutually agree with each other, to form themselves into a free, sovereign and independent body-politic, or state, by the name of The State of New Hampshire.

Note. — The numbers of these articles were first inserted in Revised Statutes, 1842; "Art.," in General Statutes, 1867.

Annotation — 88 NH 394, 90 NH 472, 95 NH 217.

GENERAL COURT

[Art.] 2d. [Legislature, How Constituted.] The supreme legislative power, within this state, shall be vested in the senate and house of representatives, each of which shall have a negative on the other.

[Art.] 3d. [General Court, When to Meet and Dissolve.] The Senate and house shall assemble biennially on the first Wednesday in January and at such other times as they may judge necessary; and shall dissolve and be dissolved, seven days next preceding the first Wednesday of January biennially and shall be styled The General Court of New Hampshire.

Note. — "Biennially" substituted for "every year," 1877; and "January" substituted for "June," 1889.

Annotation — 88 NH 495, 93 NH 474, 96 NH 517, 101 NH 536, 107 NH 495.

Amended in 1966, 1970.

[Art.] 4th. [Power of General Court to Establish Courts.] The general court (except as otherwise provided by Article 72-a of Part 2) shall forever have full power and authority to erect and constitute judicatories and courts of record, or other courts, to be holden, in the name of the state, for the hearing, trying, and determining, all manner of crimes, offenses, pleas, processes, plaints, action, causes, matters and things whatsoever arising or happening within this state, or between or concerning persons inhabiting or residing, or brought, within the same, whether the same be criminal or civil, or whether the crimes be capital, or not capital, and whether the said pleas be real, personal or mixed, and for the awarding and issuing execution thereon. To which courts and judicatories, are hereby given and granted, full power and authority, from time to time, to administer oaths or affirmations, for the better discovery of truth in any matter in controversy, or depending before them.

Note. — This article amended in 1966.
Annotation — 67 NH 274, 68 NH 495, 80 NH 420, 80 NH 447, 93 NH 40.

[Art.] 5th. [Power to Make Laws, Elect Officers, Define Their Powers and Duties, Impose Fines and Assess Taxes; Prohibited from Authorizing Towns to Aid Certain Corporations.] And further, full power and authority are hereby given and granted to the said general court, from time to time, to make, ordain, and establish, all manner of wholesome and reasonable orders, laws, statutes, ordinances, directions, and instructions, either with penalties, or without, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution, as they may judge for the benefit and welfare of this state, and for the governing and ordering thereof, and of the subjects of the same, for the necessary support and defense of the government thereof, and to name and settle biennially, or provide by fixed laws for the naming and settling, all civil officers within this state, such officers excepted, the election and appointment of whom are hereafter in this form of government otherwise provided for; and to set forth the several duties, powers, and limits, of the several civil and military officers of this state, and the forms of such oaths or affirmations as shall be respectively administered unto them, for the execution of their several offices and places, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution; and also to impose fines, mulcts, imprisonments, and other punishments; and to impose and levy proportional and reasonable assessments, rates, and taxes, upon all the inhabitants of, and residents within, the said state; and upon all estates within the same; to be issued and disposed of by warrant, under the hand of the governor of this state for the time being, with the advice and consent of the council, for the public service, in the necessary defense and support of the government of this state, and the protection and preservation of the subjects thereof, according to such acts as are, or shall be, in force within the same; provided that the general court shall not authorize any town to loan or give its money or credit directly or indirectly for the benefit of any corporation having for its object a dividend of profits or in any way aid the same by taking its stock or bonds. For the purpose of encouraging conservation of the forest resources of the state, the general court may provide for special assessments, rates and taxes on growing wood and timber.

NOTE. — "Biennially" substituted for "annually," 1877; "governor" substituted for "president," 1793.

The proviso against aid to profit-seeking corporations was inserted, 1877; and the authorization of special taxes on growing wood and timber was inserted, 1942.

[Art.] 5-A. [Continuity of Government in Case of Enemy Attack.] Notwithstanding any general or special provision of this constitution, the general court, in order to insure continuity of state and local government operations in periods of emergency resulting from disasters caused by enemy attack, shall have the power and the immediate duty to provide for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices, and to adopt such other measures as may be necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations including but not limited to the financing thereof. In the exercise of the powers hereby conferred the general court shall in all respects conform to the requirements of this constitution except to the extent that in the judgment of the general court so to do would be impracticable or would admit of undue delay.

NOTE. — Inserted in 1960.

[Art.] 5-B. [Power to Provide for Tax Valuations Based on Use.] The general court may provide for the assessment of any class of real estate at valuations based upon the current use thereof.

NOTE. — Inserted in 1968.

[Art.] 6th. [Valuation and Taxation.] The public charges of government, or any part thereof, may be raised by taxation, upon polls, estates, and other classes of property, including franchises and property when passing by will or inheritance; and there shall be a valuation of the estates within the state taken anew once in every five years, at least, and as much oftener as the general court shall order.

[Art.] 6-a. [Use of Certain Revenues Restricted to Highways.] All revenue in excess of the necessary cost of collection and administration accruing to the state from registration fees, operators' licenses, gasoline road tolls or any other special charges or taxes with respect to the operation of motor vehicles or the sale or consumption of motor vehicle fuels shall be appropriated and used exclusively for the construction, reconstruction and maintenance of public highways within this state, including the supervision of traffic thereon and payment of the interest and principal of obligations incurred for said purposes; and no part of such revenues shall, by transfer of funds or otherwise, be diverted to any other purpose whatsoever.

Note. — This article inserted, 1938.

Annotation — 94 NH 501, 101 NH 527, 103 NH 238.

[Art.] 7th. [Members of Legislature Not to Take Fees or Act as Counsel.] No member of the general court shall take fees, be of counsel, or act as advocate, in any cause before either branch of the legislature; and upon due proof thereof, such member shall forfeit his seat in the legislature.

Note. — This article inserted, 1793.

[Art.] 8th. [Open Sessions of Legislature.] The doors of the galleries, of each house of the legislature, shall be kept open to all persons who behave decently, except when the welfare of the state, in the opinion of either branch, shall require secrecy.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

NOTE. — Provisions under this head followed those under head "Senate" prior to 1793.

[Art.] 9th. [Representatives Elected Every Second Year; Apportionment of Representatives.] There shall be in the legislature of this state a house of representatives, biennially elected and founded on principles of equality, and representation therein shall be as equal as circumstances will admit. The whole number of representatives to be chosen from the towns, wards, places, and representative districts thereof established hereunder, shall be not less than three hundred seventy-five or more than four hundred. As soon as possible after the convening of the next regular session of the legislature, and at the session in 1971, and every ten years thereafter, the legislature shall make an apportionment of representatives according to the last general census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of the United States or of this state. In making such apportionment, no town, ward or place shall be divided nor the boundaries thereof altered.

NOTE. — Original article amended 1877 and new article inserted 1942 and amended 1964.

[Art.] 9-a. [Legislative Adjustments of Census with Reference to Non-Residents.] The general court shall have the power to provide by statute for making suitable adjustments to the general census of the inhabitants of the state taken by the authority of the United States or of this state on account of non-residents temporarily residing in this state.

NOTE. — This article inserted 1960.

[Art.] 10th. [Representation of Small Towns.]

NOTE. — Stricken out, 1889. Subject covered by next article.

[Art.] 11th. [Small Towns; Representation by Districts.] When any town, ward, or unincorporated place, according to the last federal decennial census, has less than the number of inhabitants necessary to entitle it to one representative, the legislature shall form those towns, wards, or unincorporated places into representative districts which contain a sufficient number of inhabitants to entitle each district so formed to one or more representatives for the entire district. In forming the districts, the boundaries of towns, wards and unincorporated places shall be preserved and the towns, wards and unincorporated places forming one district shall be reasonably proximate to one another. The legislature shall form the representative districts at its next session after approval of this article by the voters of the state, and thereafter at the regular session following every decennial federal census.

NOTE. — Original number of article restored.

Original article amended 1877 and 1889. New article inserted 1942, amended 1964.

Annotation — 101 NH 523.

[Art.] 12th. [Biennial Election of Representatives in November.] The members of the house of representatives shall be chosen biennially, in the month of November, and shall be the second branch of the legislature.

NOTE. — "Biennially" substituted for "annually," 1877; and "November" substituted for "March," 1877.

Annotation — 73 NH 618, 76 NH 99, 76 NH 586.

[Art.] 13th. [Qualifications of Electors.] All persons, qualified to vote in the election of senators, shall be entitled to vote, within the district where they dwell, in the choice of representatives.

NOTE. — The phrase "town, district, parish or place" was shortened to "district" in the engrossed copy of 1793, apparently without authority.

Annotation — 73 NH 618, 76 NH 586.

[Art.] 14th. [Representatives, How Elected, Qualifications of.] Every member of the house of representatives shall be chosen by ballot; and, for two years, at least, next preceding his election shall have been an inhabitant of this state; shall be, at the time of his election, an inhabitant of the town, ward, place, or district he may be chosen to represent and shall cease to represent such town, ward, place, or district immediately on his ceasing to be qualified as aforesaid.

NOTE. — The former requirement that each member "shall have an estate within the town, parish or place which he may be chosen to represent of the value of one hundred pounds, one half of which to be a freehold whereof he is seized in his own right", was stricken out, 1852; and a requirement that each member "shall be of the Protestant religion" was stricken out, 1877.

NOTE. — Amended in 1958 and 1964.

EXECUTIVE POWER

GOVERNOR

Note. — Entire provisions relating to "president" stricken out and these provisions substituted, 1793.

[Art.] 41. [Governor; Supreme Executive Magistrate.] There shall be a supreme executive magistrate, who shall be styled the Governor of the State of New Hampshire, and whose title shall be His Excellency. The executive power of the state is vested in the governor. The governor shall be responsible for the faithful execution of the laws. He may, by appropriate court action or proceeding brought in the name of the state, enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, or restrain violation of any constitutional or legislative power, duty, or right, by any officer, department or agency of the state. This authority shall not be construed to authorize any action or proceedings against the legislative or judicial branches.

Note. — This article amended 1966.
Annotation — 66 NH 629, 74 NH 606, 105 NH 38, 106 NH 279.

[Art.] 42. [Election of Governor; Return of Votes; Electors; If No Choice, Legislature to Elect One of Two Highest Candidates; Qualifications for Governor.] The governor shall be chosen biennially in the month of November; and the votes for governor shall be received, sorted, counted, certified and returned, in the same manner as the votes for senators; and the secretary shall lay the same before the senate and house of representatives, on the first Wednesday of January to be by them examined, and in case of an election by a plurality of votes through the state, the choice shall be by them declared and published. And the qualifications of electors of the governor shall be the same as those for senators; and if no person shall have a plurality of votes, the senate and house of representatives shall, by joint ballot elect one of the two persons, having the highest number of votes, who shall be declared governor. And no person shall be eligible to this office, unless at the time of his election, he shall have been an inhabitant of this state for seven years next preceding, and unless he shall be of the age of thirty years.

Note. — "Biennially" substituted for "annually," 1877; "November" substituted for "March," 1877; "January" substituted for "June," 1889; and "plurality" substituted for "majority," 1912.

A former requirement that the governor "shall at the same time have an estate of the value of five hundred pounds, one half of which shall consist of a freehold in his own right, within this state" was stricken out, 1852; and the requirement he shall be of the Protestant religion was stricken out, 1877.

Annotation — 66 NH 382, 71 NH 480, 76 NH 99.

[Art.] 43. [In cases of Disagreement Governor to Adjourn or Prorogue Legislation; If Infectious Distemper or Other Cause Exists, May Convene Them Elsewhere.] In cases of disagreement between the two houses, with regard to the time or place of adjournment or prorogation, the governor, with advice of council, shall have a right to adjourn or prorogue the general court, not exceeding ninety days at any one time, as he may determine the public good may require, and he shall dissolve the same seven days before the said first Wednesday of January. And, in case of any infectious distemper prevailing in the place where the said court at any time is to convene, or any other cause, whereby dangers may arise to the health or lives of the members from their attendance, the governor may direct the session to be holden at some other the most convenient place within the state.

Note. — "January" substituted for "June," 1889.
Annotation — 76 NH 601.

[Art.] 44. [Veto to Bills.] Every bill which shall have passed both houses of the general court, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor, if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it; if after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with such objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of persons, voting for or against the bill, shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within five days (Sundays excepted) after it shall been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it unless the legislature, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

[Art.] 45. [Resolves to Be Treated Like Bills.] Every resolve shall be presented to the governor, and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Annotation — 96 NH 517.

[Art.] 46. [Nomination and Appointment of Officers.] All judicial officers, the attorney-general, coroners, and all officers of the navy, and general and field officers of the militia, shall be nominated and appointed by the governor and council; and every such nomination shall be made at least three days prior to such appointment; and no appointment shall take place, unless a majority of the council agree thereto.

NOTE. — A former inclusion of "Solicitors, all sheriffs," and of "registers of probate," was stricken out, 1877.

Annotation — 57 NH 146, 74 NH 606, 98 NH 530, 102 NH 195.

[Art.] 47. [Governor and Council Have Negative on Each Other.] The governor and council shall have a negative on each other, both in the nominations and appointments. Every nomination and appointment shall be signed by the governor and council, and every negative shall be also signed by the governor or council who made the same.

Annotation — 79 NH 535.

[Art.] 48. [Field Officers to Recommend, and Governor to Appoint, Company Officers.] The captains and subalterns, in the respective regiments, shall be nominated and recommended by the field officers to the governor who is to issue their commissions immediately on receipt of such recommendation; provided, that no person shall be so nominated and recommended until he shall have been examined and found duly qualified by an examining board appointed by the governor.

NOTE. — The proviso was added to this article, 1903.

[Art.] 49. [President of Senate, etc., To Act as Governor When Office Vacant; Speaker of House to Act When Office of President of Senate also Vacant.] Whenever the chair of the governor shall become vacant, by reason of his death, absence from the state, or otherwise, the president of the senate shall during such vacancy, have and exercise all the powers and authorities which by this constitution the governor is vested with, when personally present; but when the president of the senate shall exercise the office of governor, he shall not hold his office in the senate. Whenever the chair both of the governor and of the president of the senate shall become vacant by reason of their death, absence from the state, or otherwise, the speaker of the house shall, during such vacancies, have and exercise all the powers and authorities which, by this constitution the governor is vested with when personally present. But when the speaker of the house shall exercise the office of governor, he shall not hold his office in the house. Whenever the chair of the governor, of the president of the senate, and of the speaker of the house all become vacant by reason of their death, absence from state, or otherwise, the secretary of state shall during such vacancies, have and exercise all the powers and authorities which, by this constitution the governor is vested with when personally present. But when the secretary of state exercises the office of governor, he shall not hold his office as secretary of state. Whenever the chair of the governor, of the president of the senate, of the speaker of the house and the secretary of state all become vacant by reason of their death, absence from the state, or otherwise, the state treasurer shall during such vacancies, have and exercise all the powers and authorities which, by this constitution the governor is vested with when personally present. But when the state treasurer exercises the office of governor, he shall not hold his office as state treasurer. Whenever either the secretary of state or the state treasurer exercises the office of governor, he shall be only an acting governor until such time as the senate elects a president or the house of representatives elects a speaker, and upon their election, the president of the senate or the speaker of the house of representatives shall exercise the office of governor as hereinabove provided. Provided nevertheless, that while the governor is absent from the state on official business, he shall have the power and authority to transact such business.

[Art.] 57. [Accounts of Military Stores.]

Note. — Stricken out, 1950.

[Art.] 58. [Compensation of Governor and Council.] The governor and council shall be compensated for their services, from time to time, by such grants as the general courts shall think reasonable.

[Art.] 59. [Salaries of Judges.] Permanent and honorable salaries shall be established by law, for the justices of the superior court.

COUNCIL

Note. — Entire provisions as to council stricken out and these provisions substituted, 1793.

[Art.] 60. [Councilors; Mode of Election, etc.] There shall be biennially elected, by ballot, five councilors, for advising the governor in the executive part of government. The freeholders and other inhabitants in each county, qualified to vote for senators, shall some time in the month of November, give in their votes for one councilor; which votes shall be received, sorted, counted, certified, and returned to the secretary's office, in the same manner as the votes for senators, to be by the secretary laid before the senate and house of representatives on the first Wednesday of January.

Note. — "Biennially" substituted for "annually," 1877; "November" substituted for "March," 1877; and "January" substituted for "June," 1889.
Annotation — 71 NH 480, 74 NH 606, 76 NH 99, 76 NH 586, 96 NH 513, 98 NH 530.

[Art.] 61. [Vacancies, How Filled, if No Choice.] And the person having a plurality of votes in any county, shall be considered as duly elected a councilor: But if no person shall have a plurality of votes in any county, the senate and house of representatives shall take the names of the two persons who have the highest number of votes in each county, and not elected, and out of those two shall elect by joint ballot, the councilor wanted for such county, and the qualifications for councilors shall be the same as for senator.

Note. — "Plurality" substituted for "majority," 1912.
Annotation — 71 NH 480.

[Art.] 62. [Subsequent Vacancies; Governor to Convene; Duties.] If any person thus chosen a councilor, shall be elected governor or member of either branch of the legislature, and shall accept the trust; or if any person elected a councilor, shall refuse to accept the office, or in case of the death, resignation, or removal of any councilor out of the state, the governor may issue a precept for the election of a new councilor in that county where such vacancy shall happen and the choice shall be in the same manner as before directed. And the governor shall have full power and authority to convene the council, from time to time, at his discretion; and, with them, or the majority of them, may and shall, from time to time hold a council, for ordering and directing the affairs of the state, according to the laws of the land.

Annotation — 72 NH 601, 74 NH 606, 96 NH 513, 98 NH 589, 102 NH 183.

[Art.] 63. [Impeachment of Councilors.] The members of the council may be impeached by the house, and tried by the senate for bribery, corruption, malpractice, or maladministration.

Annotation — 98 NH 530.

[Art.] 64. [Secretary to Record Proceedings of Council.] The resolutions and advice of the council shall be recorded by the secretary, in a register, and signed by all members present agreeing thereto; and this record may be called for at any time, by either house of the legislature; and any member of the council may enter his opinion contrary to the resolutions of the majority, with the reasons for such opinion.

Annotation — 79 NH 535, 98 NH 530.

[Art.] 65. [Councilor Districts Provided for.] The legislature may, if the public good shall hereafter require it, divide the state into five districts, as nearly equal as may be, governing themselves by the number of population, each district to elect a councilor: And, in case of such division, the manner of the choice shall be conformable to the present mode of election in counties.

Note. — "Population" substituted for "ratable polls and proportion of public taxes," 1912.

[Art.] 66. [Elections by Legislature May Be Adjourned From Day to Day; Order Thereof.] And, whereas the elections, appointed to be made by this constitution, on the first Wednesday of January biennially, by the two houses of the legislature, may not be completed on that day, the said elections may be adjourned from day to day, until the same be completed: and the order of the elections shall be as follows — the vacancies in the senate, if any, shall be first filled up: The governor shall then be elected, provided there shall be no choice of him by the people: And afterwards, the two houses shall proceed to fill up the vacancy, if any, in the council.

Note. — "January" substituted for "June," 1889; and "biennially" substituted for "annually," 1877.

SECRETARY, TREASURER, ETC.

[Art.] 67. [Election of Secretary and Treasurer.] The secretary and treasurer shall be chosen by joint ballot of the senators and representatives assembled in one room.

Note. — "And commissary-general" stricken out, 1950.
Annotation — 102 NH 195, 106 NH 402.

[Art.] 68. [State Records, Where Kept; Duty of Secretary.] The records of the state shall be kept in the office of the secretary, and he shall attend the governor and council, the senate and representatives, in person, or by deputy, as they may require.

Note. — The words, "who may appoint his deputies, for whose conduct he shall be answerable," following the words "secretary of state," stricken out, 1793.
"Governor" substituted for "president," 1793.
Annotation — 35 NH 579.

[Art.] 69. [Deputy Secretary.] The secretary of the state shall, at all times, have a deputy, to be by him appointed; for whose conduct in office he shall be responsible: And, in case of the death, removal, or inability of the secretary, his deputy shall exercise all the duties of the office of secretary of this state, until another shall be appointed.

Note. — This article inserted, 1793.
Annotation — 72 NH 605.

[Art.] 70. [Secretary to Give Bond.] The secretary, before he enters upon the business of his office, shall give bond, with sufficient sureties, in a reasonable sum, for the use of the state, for the punctual performance of his trust.

Note. — This article inserted, 1793.

COUNTY TREASURER, ETC.

[Art.] 71. [County Treasurers, Registers of Probate, County Attorneys, Sheriffs, and Registers of Deeds Elected.] The county treasurers, registers of probate, county attorneys, sheriffs and registers of deeds, shall be elected by the inhabitants of the several towns, in the several counties in the state, according to the method now practiced, and the laws of the state, Provided nevertheless the legislature shall have authority to alter the manner of certifying the votes, and the mode of electing those officers; but not so as to deprive the people of the right they now have of electing them.

Note. — This article was substituted for the original article 1793 and amended 1958. The words "registers of probate; sheriffs" inserted in 1877.

Annotation — 7 NH 599, 71 NH 138, 73 NH 618, 76 NH 99, 99 NH 540, 101 NH 487.

[Art.] 72. [Counties May Be Divided into Districts for Registering Deeds.] And the legislature, on the application of the major part of the inhabitants of any county, shall have authority to divide the same into two districts for registring deeds, if to them it shall appear necessary; each district to elect a register of deeds: And before they enter upon the business of their offices, shall be respectively sworn faithfully to discharge the duties thereof, and shall severally give bond, with sufficient sureties, in a reasonable sum, for the use of the county for the punctual performance of their respective trusts.

Note. — This article inserted, 1793.

JUDICIARY POWER

[Art.] 72-a. [Supreme and Superior Courts.] The judicial power of the state shall be vested in the supreme court, a trial court of general jurisdiction known as the superior court, and such lower courts as the legislature may establish under Article 4th of Part 2.

Note. — This article inserted 1966.

[Art.] 73. [Tenure of Office To Be Expressed in Commissions; Judges to Hold Office During Good Behavior, etc.; Removal.] The tenure that all commissioned officers shall have by law in their offices shall be expressed in their respective commissions, and all judicial officers duly appointed, commissioned and sworn, shall hold their offices during good behavior except those for whom a different provisions is made in this constitution. The governor with consent of the council may remove any commissioned officer for reasonable cause upon the address of both houses of the legislature, provided nevertheless that the cause for removal shall be stated fully and substantially in the address and shall not be a cause which is a sufficient ground for impeachment, and provided further that no officer shall be so removed unless he shall have had an opportunity to be heard in his defense by a joint committee of both houses of the legislature.

Note. — This article amended 1966.

Note. — Some printings of the Constitution have failed to substitute the word "governor" for "president" in sections 73 and 74, but there is evidence that the substitution was intended by the constitutional convention of 1791-1792, and by the people. See 10 State Papers, 143.

[Art.] 74. [Judges to Give Opinions, When.] Each branch of the legislature as well as the governor and council shall have authority to require the opinions of the justices of the supreme court upon important questions of law and upon solemn occasions.

Note. — This article amended in 1958.

[Art.] 75. [Justices of Peace Commissioned for Five Years.] In order that the people may not suffer from the long continuance in place of any justice of the peace who shall fail in discharging the important duties of his office with ability and fidelity, all commissions of justice of the peace shall become void at the expiration of five years from their respective dates, and upon the expiration of any commission, the same may if necessary be renewed or another person appointed as shall most conduce to the well being of the state.

Note. — Original section following this section, relating to probate courts, stricken out, 1793.

Annotation — 57 NH 146.

[Art.] 76. [Divorce and Probate Appeals, Where Tried.] All causes of marriage, divorce and alimony; and all appeals from the respective judges of probate shall be heard and tried by the superior court until the legislature shall by law make other provision.

Annotation — 69 NH 137, 74 NH 448, 80 NH 462, 81 NH 509, 85 NH 419, 96 NH 439.

[Art.] 77. [Jurisdiction of Justices in Civil Causes.] The general court are empowered to give to justices of the peace jurisdiction in civil causes, when the damages demanded shall not exceed one hundred dollars and title of real estate is not concerned; but with right of appeal, to either party, to some other court. And the general court are further empowered to give to police courts original jurisdiction to try and determine, subject to right of appeal and trial by jury, all criminal causes wherein the punishment is less than imprisonment in the state prison.

Note. — The first sentence of this article was inserted 1793; and "one hundred dollars" was substituted for "four pounds," 1877.

The words, "so that a trial by jury, in the last resort, may be had," were stricken out, 1877.

The last sentence was inserted, 1912.

Annotation — 2 NH 422, 68 NH 495, 69 NH 511, 98 NH 418, 107 NH 297.

[Art.] 78. [Judges and Sheriffs, When Disqualified by Age.] No person shall hold the office of judge of any court, or judge of probate, or sheriff of any county, after he has attained the age of seventy years.

Annotation — 63 NH 37, 83 NH 589.

[Art.] 79. [Judges and Justices Not to Act as Counsel.] No judge of any court, or justice of the peace, shall act as attorney, or be of counsel, to any party, or originate any civil suit, in matters which shall come or be brought before him as judge, or justice of the peace.

Note. — This article inserted, 1793.

Annotation — 45 NH 52, 63 NH 37, 75 NH 613.

[Art.] 80. [Jurisdiction and Term of Probate Courts.] All matters relating to the probate of wills, and granting letters of administration, shall be exercised by the judges of probate, in such manner as the legislature have directed, or may hereafter direct: And the judges of probate shall hold their courts at such place or places, on such fixed days, as the conveniency of the people may require; and the legislature from time to time appoint.

Note. — This article inserted, 1793.

Annotation — 39 NH 110, 73 NH 495, 76 NH 393, 78 NH 506, 79 NH 388, 87 NH 114, 91 NH 477.

[Art.] 81. [Judges and Registers of Probate Not to Act as Counsel.] No judge, or register of probate, shall be of counsel, act as advocate, or receive any fees as advocate or counsel, in any probate business which is pending, or may be brought into any court of probate in the county of which he is judge or register.

Note. — This article inserted, 1793.

Annotation — 45 NH 52, 51 NH 600, 58 NH 62, 75 NH 613.

CLERKS OF COURTS

[Art.] 82. [Clerks of Courts, by Whom Appointed.] The judges of the courts (those of probate excepted) shall appoint their respective clerks to hold their office during pleasure: And no such clerk shall act as an attorney or be of counsel in any cause in the court of which he is clerk, nor shall he draw any writ originating a civil action.

NOTE. — This article substituted for original article, 1793.
The next article, which related to "Delegates to Congress," stricken out, 1793.
Annotation — 5 NH 386.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF LITERATURE, TRADES, ETC.

[Art.] 83. [Encouragement of Literature, etc.; Control of Corporations, Monopolies, etc.] Knowledge and learning, generally diffused through a community, being essential to the preservation of a free government; and spreading the opportunities and advantages of education through the various parts of the country, being highly conducive to promote this end; it shall be the duty of the legislators and magistrates, in all future periods of this government, to cherish the interest of literature and the sciences, and all seminaries and public schools, to encourage private and public institutions, rewards, and immunities for the promotion of agriculture, arts, sciences, commerce, trades, manufactures, and natural history of the country; to countenance and inculcate the principles of humanity and general benevolence, public and private charity, industry and economy, honesty and punctuality, sincerity, sobriety, and all social affections, and generous sentiments, among the people: Provided, nevertheless, that no money raised by taxation shall ever be granted or applied for the use of the schools or institutions of any religious sect or denomination. Free and fair competition in the trades and industries is an inherent and essential right of the people and should be protected against all monopolies and conspiracies which tend to hinder or destroy it. The size and functions of all corporations should be so limited and regulated as to prohibit fictitious capitalization and provision should be made for the supervision and government thereof. Therefore, all just power possessed by the state is hereby granted to the general court to enact laws to prevent the operations within the state of all persons and associations, and all trusts and corporations, foreign or domestic, and the officers thereof, who endeavor to raise the price of any article of commerce or to destroy free and fair competition in the trades and industries through combination, conspiracy, monopoly, or any other unfair means; to control and regulate the acts of all such persons, associations, corporations, trusts, and officials doing business within the state; to prevent fictitious capitalization; and to authorize civil and criminal proceedings in respect to all the wrongs herein declared against.

NOTE. — The proviso at the end of the first sentence was inserted, 1877.

The anti-monopoly clause was inserted, 1903.

Annotation — 51 NH 376, 56 NH 508, 58 NH 623, 67 NH 1, 69 NH 443, 71 NH 552, 74 NH 476, 74 NH 517, 76 NH 296, 87 NH 465, 88 NH 394, 90 NH 472, 91 NH 382, 93 NH 301, 95 NH 174, 99 NH 519, 99 NH 536, 102 NH 123.

OATHS AND SUBSCRIPTIONS — EXCLUSION FROM OFFICES — COMMISSIONS — WRITS — CONFIRMATION OF LAWS — HABEAS CORPUS — THE ENACTING STYLE — CONTINUANCE OF OFFICERS — PROVISION FOR FUTURE REVISION OF THE CONSTITUTION — ETC.

[Art.] 84. [Oath of Civil Officers.] Any person chosen governor, councilor, senator, or representative, military or civil officer, (town officers excepted) accepting the trust, shall, before he proceeds to execute the duties of his office, make and subscribe the following declaration, viz. —

I, A. B. do solemnly swear, that I will bear faith and true allegiance to the United States of America and the state of New Hampshire, and will support the constitutions thereof. So help me God.

I, A. B. do solemnly and sincerely swear and affirm that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent on me as ...., according to the best of my abilities, agreeably to the rules and regulations of this constitution and laws of the state of New Hampshire. So help me God.

Any person having taken and subscribed the oath of allegiance, and the same being filed in the secretary's office, he shall not be obliged to take said oath again.

Provided always, when any person chosen or appointed as aforesaid, shall be of the denomination called Quakers, or shall be scrupulous of swearing, and shall decline taking the said oaths, such person shall take and subscribe them, omitting the word "swear," and likewise the words "So help me God," subjoining instead thereof, "This I do under the pains and penalties of perjury."

NOTE. — "Governor" substituted for "president," 1793; and the oath of allegiance substituted for original oath, 1793.

The provision dispensing with a second taking of the oath of allegiance was inserted, 1793.

The word "person" in the phrase "such person shall taken and subscribe," etc. was inserted in the engrossed copy of the Constitution as amended, 1793, apparently without authority.

The word here spelled "councilor" appeared as "counsellor" in the constitution of October 31, 1793, and in the Revised Statutes of 1842. In the Revised Laws of 1842 it is spelled "counselor." Warrant for the present spelling is found in the context, and in GL 1878, PS 1891, PS 1901, and PL 1926.

Annotation — 25 NH 458, 51 NH 128.

[Art.] 85. [Before Whom Taken.] And the oaths or affirmations shall be taken and subscribed by the governor, before the president of the senate, in presence of both houses of the legislature, and by the senators and representatives before the governor and council for the time being; and by all other officers, before such persons, and in such manner as the legislature shall from time to time appoint.

Note. — This article was substituted for the original article, 1793.

Amended 1968.

[Art.] 86. [Form of Commissions.] All commissions shall be in the name of the state of New Hampshire, signed by the governor, and attested by the secretary, or his deputy, and shall have the great seal of the state affixed thereto.

Note. — "Governor" substituted for "president," 1793.

[Art.] 87. [Form of Writs.] All writs issuing out of the clerk's office in any of the courts of law, shall be in the name of the state of New Hampshire; shall be under the seal of the court whence they issue, and bear test of the chief, first, or senior justice of the court; but when such justice shall be interested, then the writ shall bear test of some other justice of the court, to which the same shall be returnable; and be signed by the clerk of such court.

Annotation — 1 NH 139, 15 NH 29, 19 NH 394, 32 NH 87, 57 NH 188, 66 NH 362, 87 NH 176, 95 NH 151.

[Art.] 88. [Form of Indictments, etc.] All indictments, presentments, and informations, shall conclude, "against the peace and dignity of the state."

Annotation — 9 NH 468, 10 NH 347, 68 NH 495.

[Art.] 89. [Suicides and Deodands.] The estates of such persons as may destroy their own lives, shall not for that offense be forfeited, but descend or ascend in the same manner, as if such persons had died in a natural way. Nor shall any article, which shall accidentally occasion the death of any person, be henceforth deemed a deodand, or in any wise forfeited on account of such misfortune.

[Art.] 90. [Existing Laws Continued if Not Repugnant.] All the laws which have heretofore been adopted, used, and approved, in the province, colony, or state of New Hampshire, and usually practiced on in the courts of law, shall remain and be in full force, until altered and repealed by the legislature; such parts thereof only excepted, as are repugnant to the rights and liberties contained in this constitution: Provided that nothing herein contained, when compared with the twenty-third article in the bill of rights, shall be construed to affect the laws already made respecting the persons, or estates of absentees.

[Art.] 91. [Habeas Corpus.] The privilege and benefit of the habeas corpus, shall be enjoyed in this state, in the most free, easy, cheap, expeditious, and ample manner, and shall not be suspended by the legislature, except upon the most urgent and pressing occasions, and for a time not exceeding three months.

[Art.] 92. [Enacting Style of Statutes.] The enacting style in making and passing acts, statutes, and laws, shall be, Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened.

Annotation — 63 NH 574.

[Art.] 93. [Governor and Judges Prohibited From Holding Other Offices.] No governor, or judge of the supreme judicial court, shall hold any office or place under the authority of this state, except such as by this constitution they are admitted to hold, saving that the judges of the said court may hold the offices of justice of the peace throughout the state; nor shall they hold any place or office, or receive any pension or salary, from any other state, government, or power, whatever.

Note. — "Governor" substituted for "president," 1793.

"Supreme judicial" substituted for "superior," in engrossed copy of Constitution as amended 1793, apparently without authority.

Annotation — 80 NH 292, 83 NH 589.

[Art.] 94. [Incompatibility of Offices; Only Two Offices of Profit to Be Holden at Same Time.] No person shall be capable of exercising, at the same time more than one of the following offices within this state, viz. judge of probate, sheriff, register of deeds; and never more than two offices of profit, which may be held by appointment of the governor, or governor and council, or senate and house of representatives, or superior or inferior courts; military offices, and offices of justice of the peace excepted.

Note. — "Governor" substituted for "president," 1793.
Annotation — 80 NH 292, 83 NH 589, 85 NH 562.

[Art.] 95. [Incompatibility of Certain Offices.] No person holding the office of judge of any court, (except special judges) secretary, treasurer of the state, attorney-general, military officers receiving pay from the United States, or this state (excepting officers of the militia, occasionally called forth on an emergency), register of deeds, sheriff, collectors of state and Federal taxes, members of Congress, or any person holding any office under the United States, shall at the same time hold the office of governor, or have a seat in the senate, or house of representatives, or council; but his being chosen and appointed to, and accepting the same, shall operate as a resignation of his seat in the chair, senate, or house of representatives, or council; and the place so vacated shall be filled up. No member of the council shall have a seat in the senate or house of representatives.

Annotation — 80 NH 292, 83 NH 589.

[Art.] 96. [Bribery and Corruption Disqualify for Office.] No person shall ever be admitted to hold a seat in the legislature or any office of trust or importance under this government, who, in the due course of law, has been convicted of bribery or corruption, in obtaining an election or appointment.

[Art.] 97. [Value of Money, How Computed.]

Note. — Stricken out, 1950.
Annotation — 69 NH 511.

[Art.] 98. [Constitution, When to Take Effect.] To the end that there may be no failure of justice, or danger to the state, by the alterations and amendments made in the constitution, the general court is hereby fully authorized and directed to fix the time when the alterations and amendments shall take effect, and make the necessary arrangements accordingly.

Note. — See act of December 14, 1792.
Substituted for original section, 1793.
Annotation — 103 NH 330, 103 NH 333.

[Art.] 99. [Revision of Constitution Provided For.] It shall be the duty of the selectmen, and assessors, of the several towns and places in this state, in warning the first annual meetings for the choice of senators, after the expiration of seven years from the adoption of this constitution, as amended, to insert expressly in the warrant this purpose, among the others for the meeting, to wit, to take the sense of the qualified voters on the subject of a revision of the constitution; and, the meeting being warned accordingly, and not otherwise, the moderator shall take the sense of the qualified voters present as to the necessity of a revision; and a return of the number of votes for and against such necessity, shall be made by the clerk sealed up, and directed to the general court at their then next session; and if, it shall appear to the general court by such return, that the sense of the people of the state has been taken, and that, in the opinion of the majority of the qualified voters in the state, present and voting at said meetings, there is a necessity for a revision of the constitution, it shall be the duty of the general court to call a convention for that purpose, otherwise the general court shall direct the sense of the people to be taken, and then proceed in the manner before mentioned. The delegates to be chosen in the same manner, and proportioned, as the representatives to the general court; provided that no alterations shall be made in this constitution, before the same shall be laid before the towns and unincorporated places, and approved by two-thirds of the qualified voters present and voting on the subject.

[Art.] 100. [Alternate Methods of Proposing Amendments.] Amendments to this constitution may be proposed by the general court or by a constitutional convention selected as herein provided.

(a) The senate and house of representatives, voting separately, may propose amendments by a three-fifths vote of the entire membership of each house at any session.

(b) The general court, by an affirmative vote of a majority of all members of both houses voting separately, may at any time submit the question "Shall there be a convention to amend or revise the constitution?" to the qualified voters of the state. If the question of holding a convention is not submitted to the people at some time during any period of ten years, it shall be submitted by the secretary of state at the general election in the tenth year following the last submission. If a majority of the qualified voters voting on the question of holding a convention approves it, delegates shall be chosen at the next regular general election, or at such earlier time as the legislature may provide, in the same manner and proportion as the representatives to the general court are chosen. The delegates so chosen shall convene at such time as the legislature may direct and may recess from time to time and make such rules for the conduct of their convention as they may determine.

(c) Each constitutional amendment proposed by the general court or by a constitutional convention shall be submitted to the voters by written ballot and shall become a part of the constitution only after approval as provided in Article 99.

Note. — This article inserted 1964.
Annotation — 76 NH 612, 88 NH 495.

[Art.] 101. [Enrollment of Constitution.] This form of government shall be enrolled on parchment, and deposited in the secretary's office, and be a part of the laws of the land and printed copies thereof shall be prefixed to the books containing the laws of this state, in all future editions thereof.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

Early historians record that in 1623, under the authority of an English land-grant, Captain John Mason, in conjunction with several others, sent David Thomson, a Scotchman, and Edward and Thomas Hilton, fish-merchants of London, with a number of other people in two divisions to establish a fishing colony in what is now New Hampshire, at the mouth of the Piscataqua River.

One of these divisions, under Thomson, settled near the river's mouth at a place they called Little Harbor or "Pannaway," now the town of Rye, where they erected salt-drying fish racks and a "factory" or stone house. The other division under the Hilton brothers set up their fishing stages on a neck of land eight miles above, which they called Northam, afterwards named Dover.

Nine years before that Captain John Smith of England and later of Virginia, sailing along the New England coast and inspired by the charm of our summer shores and the solitude of our countrysides, wrote back to his countrymen that:

> "Here should be no landlords to rack us with high rents, or extorted fines to consume us. Here every man may be a master of his own labor and land in a short time. The sea there is the strangest pond I ever saw. What sport doth yield a more pleasant content and less hurt or charge than angling with a hook, and crossing the sweet air from isle to isle over the silent streams of a calm sea?"

Thus the settlement of New Hampshire did not happen because those who came here were persecuted out of England. The occasion, which is one of the great events in the annals of the English people. was one planned with much care and earnestness by the English crown and the English parliament. Here James the first began a colonization project which not only provided ships and provisions, but free land bestowed with but one important condition, that it remain always subject to English sovereignty.

So it remained until the "War of the Revolution." Smith first named it "North Viriginia" but King James later revised this into "New England." To the map was added the name Portsmouth, taken from the English town where Captain John Mason was commander of the fort, and the name New Hampshire is that of his own English county of Hampshire.

Captain Mason died in 1635, just before his proposed trip to the new country which he never saw. He had invested more than twenty-two thousand pounds in clearing the land, building houses, and preparing for its defense, — a considerable fortune for those days. By then Dover and Portsmouth had expanded into Hampton and Exeter, and its income from fishing was increased by that from trade in furs and timber.

Taking the idea from the English government, a community of "towns" was erected, and this became a "royal province" in 1679 with John Cutt as president, with a population intended to be as nearly like England as it could be. The "royal province" continued until 1698 when it came under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts with Joseph Dudley as Governor. Thus it continued until 1741.

During that time England's throne had been ruled by William and Mary, Queen Anne, and George I, and New Hampshire was administered by no less than eight lieutenant governors. There had been much unrest in England and as a result, to New Hampshire's advantage, the Scotch settlers of Londonderry in Ireland had in 1719 sent many of their people here to form a "Scotch" colony in the new place they would call our own Londonderry.

Under King George II New Hampshire returned to its provincial status with a governor of its own, Benning Wentworth, who was its chief magistrate from 1741 to 1766.

During the first two decades of Governor Wentworth's term New Hampshire had been beset with Indian troubles. With little aid from England, then at war with its old-time enemy, France, the colonists undertook the sieges of Louisbourg, and helped to reduce Crown Point, and in the conquest of Canada. By the time of the signing of the Peace of Paris in 1762, and the end of the Indian fighting under the Rogers Rangers, the entire north country of New Hampshire was ready to be explored, surveyed, and populated.

Governor Wentworth who, as if in anticipation of this opportunity, seems to have been well prepared for it, had arranged the purchase for the sum of fifteen hundred pounds of the unauthenticated claims of Robert Mason, heir of Captain John Mason. This was done through a group of twelve influential citizens who called themselves the "Masonian Proprietors." Having done this, the governor kept the land "within the province."

Governor Wentworth, with all or most of the Masonian Proprietors as his councilors, then proceeded to grant towns to prospective settlers as equally as possible. In addition to the thirty-eight towns already granted, more than a hundred others followed after the year 1761. These towns contained lots available to more than thirty thousand families, many from the older towns in southern New Hampshire and Massachusetts, but many from other neighboring states. Some of these towns were located in Vermont, to be released later by a court order, which made the western shore of the Connecticut River the state boundary line.

While the new towns were occasionally given the names of the leading grantees, not a few of them bore the historic names of English royalty, frequently those of friends and relatives of Governor Wentworth and his own royal family, the Rockinghams, in England. Many of the beneficiaries were soldiers who had fought in the Indian wars, while a few were of Dutch origin, such as might settle from New York in New Hampshire.

The terms of the grants were simple. The Proprietors could convey only the soil, while the political rights and powers of government came from the province. Provision was made that no land should be subject to taxation or assessment until improved by those holding the titles. Rights were reserved for land for roads, churches and schools, to be built within a definite period of time, for the use of ministers and in many cases for mill-rights. Fees were nominal, often only a shilling or an ear of corn a year. All tall pines should be saved for the King's navy.

Benning Wentworth died in 1770. He was succeeded by his nephew who later became Sir John Wentworth, the last of the royal governors. He is perhaps best known because of his purchase of a thirty-six mile tract of land on the shore of Lake Winnipesaukee where he established an estate known as Kingswood. It afterward became Wolfeborough.

Governor Sir John Wentworth's beneficial acts to the state included the building of roads, including one from Portsmouth to Kingswood; publishing the first accurate state map; organizing the State militia, a member of which was Major Benjamin Thompson of Concord who afterward became known as Count Rumford; his help in founding Dartmouth College; and the building of Wentworth House, now owned by the State. Loyal to the English crown, he embarked for Nova Scotia at the beginning of the Revolution, there to become its Lieutenant-governor until his death in 1820.

A pre-Revolution event occurring in New Hampshire was the removal in 1774, by a small party of patriots at New Castle, of the powder and guns at Fort William and Mary. Other Revolutionary events included New Hampshire's participation in the Battle of Bunker Hill at which nearly all the troops doing the actual fighting were said to have been from this State; the signing of the Declaration of Independence by New Hampshire's Josiah Bartlett, Matthew Thornton, and William Whipple; General John Stark's victory at the Battle of Bennington; and the success of Captain John Paul Jones at sea.

Just as it was the first to declare its independence and adopt its own constitution, New Hampshire was the ninth and deciding state in accepting the National Constitution as that of a republic, never to be known under any other form of government. New Hampshire's John Langdon was the first acting vice-president of the United States, and was President of the Senate when Washington was elected first president.

Many events have helped to individualize New Hampshire's unique history as the decades have followed each other down to the present time. Both Washington and Lafayette passed within our borders. Meshech Weare was elected the first state "president." Morey's Connecticut River steam-boat preceded Fulton's by seventeen years. An American President, Franklin Pierce, and a Vice-president, Henry Wilson, were elected, both from New Hampshire. Daniel Webster won his famous Dartmouth College case before the Supreme Court. The first American public library was established at Peterborough. The world-recognized "Concord Coach" was made here, as was America's first cog-railroad to Mount Washington dating 1869.

Statesmen, educators, inventors, preachers, scientists, explorers, authors, industrialists, engineers, lawyers, diplomats, are all arrayed in the long line of notables New Hampshire claims as coming from her soil.

GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION

New Hampshire is situated the most northern of the thirteen original states and lies between latitude 42-40 and 45-18 north and longitude 70-37 and 72-37 west. It is about 180 miles long and 50 miles wide, although the extreme width is 93 miles.

It is bounded on the north by Quebec province in Canada, on the east by Maine and the Atlantic ocean, on the south by Massachusetts, and on the west by Vermont. The Connecticut River is the western boundary.

"MOTHER OF RIVERS"

Geographies sometimes speak of the state as the "Mother of Rivers." Five of the great streams of New England originate in its granite hills. The Connecticut River rises in the northern part, and for nearly one hundred miles of its winding course hems the shores of the state with a "broad seam of silver." The Pemigewasset River starts in the Profile Lake in the Franconia mountains and joins the Winnipesaukee at Franklin to form the Merrimack, which at one time turned more spindles than any other river in the world. The Cocheco and Salmon Falls rivers join at Dover to form the Piscataqua. In addition, two of the principal rivers of Maine, the Androscoggin and the Saco, have their beginnings in northern New Hampshire.

New Hampshire has 1300 lakes or ponds and 40,000 miles of rivers and streams which provide year round fishing and recreation in scenic surroundings, as well as power for the State's many industries.

"THE GRANITE STATE"

New Hampshire is commonly known as the Granite State, and of late years by some writers is called the Queen State — "Queen by right of her natural beauty; queen by her native hardy spirit; queen by her diversified industry; queen by reason of her motherhood of great men. She is enthroned on hills of granite, diademed with sparkling waters and sceptered with industry."

The state entertains annually over a million summer visitors who resort in the mountain, lake and seashore scenery, — in fact it has been estimated that a million automobiles cross our borders annually! The soil is suitable for fruits, flowers and vegetables. The forests of pine, spruce and hard wood add beauty to the landscape and wealth to the land.

The White Mountains are the natural feature which has the widest fame. New Hampshire bodies of water cover one hundred and fifteen thousand acres and vary from small ponds to Lake Winnipesaukee, which is twenty-two miles long and eight miles wide.

New Hampshire's publicly-owned aerial tramway, the first erected to a mountain top in North America, is located in Franconia Notch near The Old Man of the Mountain. Its cars have carried 2,000,000 passengers in their eight-minute ascent of the 2022 feet to the top.

No state grows apples of finer flavor than come from the hillsides of New Hampshire. Horticultural shows have no better exhibits than are presented from towns in the southern part of this state, where the orchards have been sprayed and treated by the latest scientific methods. Strawberries, blueberries, peaches and products of the garden are grown in great quantities and shipped hundreds of miles.

New Hampshire is also famous for her products made from the sap of the maple tree.

Dairying is a large business and in recent years the quality of the herds has increased tenfold. There are 5,779,840 acres of land in the state, 1,960,061 acres being in farm land, with the number of farms estimated at 16,554, according to the 1940 farm census. There were over two and one-half million acres of timber land, which contained over thirty billion feet of merchantable timber, but the disastrous hurricane of 1938 has sadly depleted the standing timber in New Hampshire's granite hills.

It is estimated that every year more than four million dollars is permanently invested in the purchase of land and the construction of buildings in the rural districts. Nearly every town has some summer visitors. Winnipesaukee shores are lined with cottages and hotels; Sunapee has a summer population of over five thousand, who enjoy its beauties.

The state has a seaboard of about eighteen miles. Hampton and Rye beaches have been famous summer resorts since the days Whittier pitched his "tent on the beach." The salt waves of the Atlantic lap the sometimes sandy, sometimes rocky coast into one continuous pleasure ground, where surf bathing and scenic beauty enchant the visitor. In the early fall of 1915 a disastrous fire at Hampton Beach destroyed many of the hotels and places of business there, but the resort has since been rebuilt from the ruins until it is larger and more attractive than ever. The recreational area at Hampton Beach has greatly improved the appearance of that part of the coast. The state maintains a large public bath house and a parking area there. The erection of a sea wall in 1934 not only improved the property along the coast but was a necessary measure against coast erosion.

Among New Hampshire's all-year, all-season recreation attractions, none are more popular than its winter sports. Mount Washington is the highest mountain east of the Rockies and north of the Mason-Dixon Line. Its privately-owned cog railway was the first mountain climbing railway in the world.

New Hampshire has some of the finest ski terrain in the east where the sport may be enjoyed well into July and August. Its many lifts include the widely known Cranmore skimobile, operated all year, and Tuckerman, Cannon, Sunapee and Gilford slopes.

Portsmouth, the only sea city, has an historic past and a prosperous present with its large navy yard. New Castle is a place of romance and aesthetic beauty and adventure. A large part of the Isles of Shoals in Portsmouth harbor belongs to New Hampshire, with their cottages and hotels. Lobster fishermen find the Isles of Shoals and the New Hampshire coast favorable areas for taking this famous sea food. The state highways are as fine as any state can boast of and are kept in excellent driving condition the year round. New Hampshire is open to visitors, from the coast to the mountains, twelve months in the year.

FISH AND GAME

In 1865 New Hampshire joined the vanguard of American science by establishing a fish and game department, the first one of its kind in New England. Since that date, some eighty odd years ago, the efforts of this department have been devoted to the propagation and conservation of fish and game.

In modern times the cultivation of fish and the protection of wild life have demanded the application of scientific methods quite as much as any other element of our life. It is a known fact that while European countries have found vast resources in their shore fisheries, the United States is by no means able to rely on her coast fisheries, and has thus been obliged to develop her inland waters to meet the needs that otherwise could have been met only by importation from other countries. Moreover, while Europe's supply is bound to lessen in time to come, our supply will continue to increase.

Today, New Hampshire's Fish and Game Department employs a balanced team of trained wildlife men, fish culturists, and law enforcement officers to maintain and increase the available supplies of her native species under the pressure of vastly increased demand. To do so means that every one of her waters and every bit of cover must be contributing its full share to the state's crop. Research personnel are constantly exploring new avenues to increase natural productivity, while evaluating the results of current practices.

Since World War II, a program of modernization and expansion of fish rearing facilities has more than doubled the annual output available for stocking. Beautiful new rearing stations which rank with any in the country for modern design and efficient operation have been built at Merrymeeting Lake in New Durham, at Summer Brook in Ossipee, and at Merrimack, between Manchester and Nashua. Five other stations at Colebrook, Twin Mountain, Warren, New Hampton, and Richmond have been completely reconditioned.

Fish and game is now recognized as a major factor in the recreation business which is one of New Hampshire's foremost sources of revenue. We can be justly proud of the effective teamwork between department personnel and the sportsmen of the state who are looking forward with the eye of true conservationists to establishing the fish and wildlife species of our state on a secure footing for future years. Deer, grouse, black bear, snowshoe hares, landlocked salmon, togue, black bass, and several species of brook trout are only a few of the wild residents which are to be found in such plenty as to make sportsmen choose New Hampshire first.

"COME TO NEW HAMPSHIRE"

New Hampshire believes in progress and development in every direction. It is the third most industrialized state in the Union and prizes itself on the quality and diversification of its products. New Hampshire is the home of the famous breed of poultry known as the "New Hampshires." She invites the whole world to visit her mountains, the "playground of America." Those seeking opportunity for profitable farming will do well to write for further information to the Commissioner of Agriculture, Concord, N. H.; sportsmen are invited to send for literature and advice to the Fish and Game Director, Concord, N. H.; those looking for business openings, either in manufacturing enterprises or in the retail field, should correspond with the New Hampshire Dept. of Resources and Economic Development, Concord, N. H.

The Boston & Maine Railroad Publicity Bureau at Boston, Mass., Storrowton Village, Eastern States Exposition Grounds, West Springfield, Mass., the New Hampshire Manufacturers' Association and the New Hampshire Historical Society, Concord, N. H., are other sources from which information not given in this volume may be secured.

THE STATE HOUSE

The first discussions regarding the erection of a suitable state capitol building in New Hampshire took place in the year 1814. It was indeed a memorable year. The War of 1812 had come to a close with the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, although the news had not reached America until after our troops under General Jackson had continued fighting into 1815 and won the famous battle of New Orleans.

Other matters attracted state attention. One was the election of a "Republican" governor, William Plumer, who defeated the "Federalists." Another was the Dartmouth College case in which the Governor favored state domination of the College. The legislature considered the proposed new capitol building, but first had to determine in what locality it would be.

The contest was between Concord, Hopkinton, and Salisbury, the last named town having offered seven thousand dollars for the honor. In the end Concord won, and by 1816 final action had been taken to build there.

Considerable expense was saved the town of Concord by the decision to build the Capitol of granite from what are now the Swenson quarries at the north end of the town, and to have the cutting and shaping and facing of the stones done by the inmates of the prison.

A feature of the new and imposing building thus provided was its huge gold-painted wooden eagle, which was raised to the top of the dome in 1818. Appropriate ceremonies presided over by Governor Plumer were marked by a series of toasts, one of which was, "The American Eagle. May the shadow of his wings protect every acre of our united continent and the lightning of his eye flash terror and defeat through the ranks of our enemies."

The new building's actual cost was only approximately $82,000, but it provided adequate quarters for the legislature and committees, the Governor and Council, the Secretary of State, the Treasurer, and the library. Stuart J. Park, the builder, goes down in history as having done an admirable job, and he has a Concord street to the north of the building, Park Street, named in his honor. The first session of the legislature to be held in the new building was in 1819.

There is no record of discussion of enlargements or expansion of Capitol facilities until 1857. At that time there was pointed out the need for more library space and rooms for new departments. Nothing was done, however, until the problem became acute in one of the Civil War years, 1863, through the offer of the city of Manchester of a sizeable sum to build a new capitol and locate it there. This amount was stated to be no less than half a million dollars.

The legislature having voted to retain the Capitol in Concord, plans were at once made to undertake its enlargement and remodeling. This was begun in 1864 and completed by 1866. The cost was said to have been approximately $200,000.

In 1881, plans having been proposed to gain new space for needs caused by growth in State operations, by the removal of the library to a building of its own, plans for such a building were made. These plans, as ultimately adopted, not only provided for a "State Library," but for the Supreme Court as well, and the building was finally completed in 1895. The Library was later enlarged in 1903.

Not until 1903 was the problem of increasing needs for more space in the conduct of the State's business to come under discussion. In this discussion the point was conclusively made that "the majority of State offices cannot be provided with accommodations and are located in other buildings . . . ." and that this was uneconomical and ought to be corrected.

Acting under a resolution which instructed the Governor and Council to remedy this situation, Governor Bachelder employed a firm of Boston architects to prepare a plan for an extensive enlargement of the Capitol.

The arguments included the danger from fire, the inadequacy of the House and Senate to seat the membership, and the lack of meeting rooms for the legislative committees. This called for what amounted to an entirely new state house at an expense of approximately a million dollars, and by 1909 a bill for such an amount was introduced.

Again the city of Manchester entered the scene, offering the million if the state house might be removed and rebuilt there. The legislature voted again to retain the Capitol in Concord, and an act for the issuance of bonds for the construction required was passed.

Governor Quimby and his Council then employed architects under whose plans the entire building was remodeled precisely as it is today, making the entire building fire-proof in all its parts, providing electric elevators, modern lighting, vaults, and an up-to-date heating system. During the years following, the proposal of 1903 regarding the necessity of providing for the various departments under one head was again considered, and plans were drawn in 1937 for the present State House Annex.

The corner-stone for this new undertaking was laid in 1938, and the cost at completion, including a considerable grant from the federal government, amounted to $327,000. Here are housed more than twenty of the State's departments in modern, well-equipped offices. The Annex is connected by an underground passageway with the Capitol itself.

Since the building of the Annex, other improvements have been undertaken to keep the State government in step with modern progress. Recently the entire outer surface of the Capitol Building has been expertly sanded and washed, restoring the granite stones to their original clean, fresh appearance.

Likewise the statues of John Stark, Daniel Webster, President Pierce, John P. Hale, and Commodore Perkins have been properly cleaned and made tarnishproof by a modern professional process. Also the gilded wooden eagle, the Capitol Building's long familiar emblem, having been found to be suffering from the effects of many decades of weathering, has been replaced by an element-proof metal replica which now adorns the dome where its gold will glisten in the sunshine of long years to come. These things are among the accomplishments of the administration of Governor Lane Dwinell.

OUTLINE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE GOVERNMENTAL PERIODS

1. First Period

This was a period of early settlement in New Hampshire, from 1623 to 1641, a period of 18 years. There was no provincial organization, only local self-government. The first settlements were at Portsmouth and Dover.

Royal Executive	Governor of Plymouth Colony	Governor of Massachusetts Bay
James I 1623-26	William Bradford 1623-33	John Winthrop 1631-35
Charles I 1626-50	Edward Winslow 1634	Thomas Dudley 1635
	Thomas Prince 1635	John Haynes 1636
	William Bradford 1636	Henry Vane 1637
	Edward Winslow 1637
	(First Settlements at Hampton and Exeter)
	William Bradford 1638	John Winthrop 1638-40
	Thomas Prince 1639	Thomas Dudley 1641
	William Bradford 1640-44

2. Second Period

This was the period of the first union of the New Hampshire towns and Massachusetts Bay colony. From 1641 to 1679, 38 years.

Royal Executive	Governor
Charles I, 1626-50	Richard Bellingham, 1642
	John Winthrop, 1643-45
	John Endicott, 1645
	Thomas Dudley, 1646
	John Winthrop, 1647-50

Charles II, 1650-86	Thomas Dudley, 1651
	John Endicott, 1652-55
	Richard Bellingham, 1655
	John Endicott, 1656-66
	Richard Bellingham, 1666-74
	John Leverett, 1674-79

3. Third Period

This was the period of the first separate province government. From 1679 to 1686, seven years.

Royal Executive	Provincial Executive
Charles II, 1650-86	John Cutt, president, 1680-81
	Richard Waldron, deputy-president, 1681-82
	Edward Cranfield, lieutenant-governor, 1682-85
James II, 1686-88	Walter Barefoote, deputy-governor 1685-86

4. Fourth Period

This was the period of government under the dominion of New England. From 1686 to 1689, three years.

Royal Executive	Provincial Executive
James II, 1686-88	Joseph Dudley, president, 1686-87
(Interregnum) 1686-89	Sir Edmund Andros, governor, 1686-89

5. Fifth Period

This was the second period of local self-government of New Hampshire towns. From 1689 to 1690, one year. William and Mary were king and queen of England and there was no executive over New Hampshire.

6. Sixth Period

This was the period of the second union of New Hampshire with the Massachusetts Bay colony. From 1690 to 1692, two years. William and Mary were royal executives during this period and Simon Bradstreet was governor of Massachusetts Bay colony, including New Hampshire.

7. Seventh Period

This was the period of the permanent provincial government. From 1692 to 1775, in all 83 years.

Royal Executive	Provincial Executive
William and Mary, 1689-95	John Usher, lieutenant-governor, 1692-97
William III, 1695-1703	William Partridge, lieutenant-governor, 1697-98
	Samuel Allen, governor, 1698-99
	Earl of Bellomont, governor, 1699-1701
	William Partridge, lieutenant-governor, 1701-02

Queen Anne, 1703-15	Joseph Dudley, governor, 1703-16
George I, 1715-28	Samuel Shute, governor, 1716-24
George II, 1728-61	John Wentworth, lieutenant-governor, 1724-27
	William Burnet, governor, 1727-29
	Jonathan Belcher, governor, 1730-41
George III, 1761-	Benning Wentworth, governor, 1741-66
	John Wentworth, governor, 1766-75

8. Eighth Period

This was the revolutionary period. From 1775, when the royal government ceased, to 1784, when the present state constitution went into effect. Nine years. The government vested in the committee of safety, of which Matthew Thornton was head from 1775 to 1776, by virtue of his office as president of the provincial congress, and Mesech Weare was president during the remainder of the period.

9. Ninth Period

This is the period of statehood. From 1784 to the present time, 187 years.

President	Governor
	Meshech Weare, 1784-85
	John Langdon (President), 1785-86
	John Sullivan (President), 1786-88
George Washington, 1789-97	John Langdon (President), 1788-89
	John Sullivan (President), 1789-90
	Josiah Bartlett, 1790-94
John Adams, 1797-1801	John T. Gilman, 1794-1805
Thomas Jefferson, 1801-09	John Langdon, 1805-09
James Madison, 1809-17	Jeremiah Smith, 1809-10
	John Langdon, 1810-12
	William Plumer, 1812-13
	John T. Gilman, 1813-16
James Monroe, 1817-25	William Plumer, 1816-19
	Samuel Bell, 1819-23
	Levi Woodbury, 1823-24
John Q. Adams, 1825-29	David L. Morrill, 1824-27
	Benjamin Pierce, 1827-28
	John Bell, 1828-29
Andrew Jackson, 1829-37	Benjamin Pierce, 1829-30
	Matthew Harvey, 1830-31
	Samuel Dinsmoor, 1831-34
	William Badger, 1834-36
Martin Van Buren, 1837-41	Isaac Hill, 1836-39
William H. Harrison, 1841	John Page, 1839-42
John Tyler, 1841-45	Henry Hubbard, 1842-44
James K. Polk, 1845-49	John H. Steel, 1844-46
	Anthony Colby, 1846-47
	Jared W. Williams, 1847-49
Zachary Taylor, 1849-50	Samuel Dinsmoor, Jr., 1849-52
Millard Fillmore, 1850-53	Noah Martin, 1825-54
Franklin Pierce, 1853-57	Nathaniel B. Baker, 1854-55
	Ralph Metcalf, 1855-57
James Buchanan, 1857-61	William Haile, 1857-59
	Ichabod Goodwin, 1859-61
Abraham Lincoln, 1861-65	Nathaniel S. Berry, 1861-63
	Joseph A. Gilmore, 1863-65

President	Governor
Andrew Johnson, 1865-69	Frederick Smyth, 1865-67
	Walter Harriman, 1867-69
Ulysses S. Grant, 1869-77	Onslow Stearns, 1869-71
	James A. Weston, 1871-72

As parts of Massachusetts Bay Colony (1641-3 to 1679) the towns of Hampton, Exeter, Dover, and Strawberry Bank were comprised within Norfolk county, which was one of the four shires, viz., Essex, Middlesex, Suffolk, and Norfolk, into which the Bay Colony was separated from "3d month, 10th day 1643."

The Province of New Hampshire agitated the subject of county establishment for years previous to decisive action in 1769, one plan, which came to nought in 1755, being to make two counties, Portsmouth and Cumberland, with the Merrimack as the dividing line.

The act which passed April 29, 1769, contained the provision that it should not take effect until "his majesty's royal approbation thereof be known," and the further provision that "said counties of Strafford and Grafton shall be for the present annexed to and deemed and taken as parts and members of the County of Rockingham  until the governor by and with the advice of the council shall declare them respectively sufficient for the exercise of their respective jurisdictions and no longer.' Governor John Wentworth, in a message to the house of representatives in March, 1771, said "it gives me great pleasure to inform you that his majesty has been graciously pleased to approve and confirm the act for dividing this Province into counties." The existence of Rockingham, Hillsborough, and Cheshire counties began on March 19, 1771, Strafford and Grafton having received authority to exercise and enjoy county privileges, as set forth in Governor John Wentworth's message to the house on May 28, 1772, their separation from Rockingham became effective on June 5, 1773, by the terms of the act of February 5, 1773, "fixing the times and places for holding courts in  Grafton county," four months being allowed for the building of "prisons, court houses," etc.

FIRST DIVISION

The division of 1769, by the "Act for dividing this Province into Counties and for the more easy administration of Justice," was as follows: "The bounds of the first County to begin at the mouth of Piscataqua River and to run up the same to the Easterly corner of Newmarket including the River, and from thence Northwesterly by the Easterly and Northerly sidelines of Newmarket, Epping, Nottingham, Chichester and Canterbury to the River, and down the same line of Concord including the River, then round the Westerly Lines of Bow, Concord and Pembroke to Merrimack River, thence down the same to the North west corner of Derryfield, thence by the Easterly lines of Derryfield, Litchfield and Nottingham. West to the Province Line, thence by said line to the Sea, thence by the Sea to the bounds first mentioned, including all that part of the Isles of Shoals which belongs to this Province.

"The Bounds of the Second County to begin at the North west corner of Canterbury, and from thence to cross the River, then down the River to Pemigewasset, then to run up Pemigewasset River to Campton, thence round the Westerly end of Campton, and by the Northerly sidelines of Campton, Sandwich & Tamworth & thence Easterly to the Province line, on the same course with the Northerly sideline of Eaton, thence down said Province line to the line of the first County, thence by the same to the bounds first mentioned.

"The bounds of the Third County to begin at the South East corner of Nottingham West, thence by the Province line to the South East corner of Rindge, thence by the Easterly sideline of Rindge, Monadnock Number two, Dublin, the Townships Number Six, Number Seven & Number Eight, thence to the South end of Sunnape Pond, thence by the Easterly side of said Pond, to the North end thereof, thence by the North westerly sideline of Dantzick Heidlebourg, and by the Northerly sidelines of Heidlebourg and North Westerly sideline of Emery's Town to Pemigewasset River, thence down the same to the bounds of the first County, thence by the same to the bounds first mentioned.

"The bounds of the Fourth County to begin at the South East corner of Rindge, & from thence to run Westerly by the Province line to the Western Banks of Connecticut River, thence up the same till it comes opposite to the North west corner of Plainfield, then crossing the River to the last mentioned corner of Plainfield, thence by the Northerly sidelines of Plainfield & Grantham, to the North East corner of Grantham thence by the Easterly sideline of Grantham & the North sideline of Saville to the boundary line of the third County, thence by the same to the bounds first mentioned.

"And the fifth County to contain all the lands in the Province not comprehended in the other Countys.

"And all the Towns, Parishes, Precincts or Places within the bounds aforesaid respectively shall be deemed, accepted, named & taken as parts and Members of the respective Countys aforesaid. And the Names of the said Counties shall be and are hereby as follows viz the name of the first County Rockingham, the name of the second County Strafford, the Name of the Third County Hillsborough, the Name of the fourth County Cheshire, the Name of the fifth County Grafton.

"That the said Counties of Strafford & Grafton shall be for the present annexed to, & deemed & taken as parts and Members of the County of Rockingham and Subject to the Jurisdiction and Authority of the Courts, Magistrates and Officers of the said County of Rockingham to all intents and purposes and shall remain so annexed, deemed & taken and Subject until the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Council shall declare them respectively sufficient for the exercise of their respective Jurisdictions and no longer.

"That the Times and Places of holding the said Courts in the said Counties of Strafford and Grafton shall be established as the Governor, Council and Assembly shall Judge most Convenient at the Time the Governor and Council shall determine they may assume the actual exercise of their County Privileges. — But that this act nor any Clause therein shall be in force nor have any Effect till his Majesty's Royal approbation thereof be known."

The supplementary act of Jan. 29, 1841, established a boundary line "beginning at the easterly termination of the line dividing the towns of Meredith and Moultonborough; thence running easterly to the Southerly point of Long Island in Winnipissiogee Lake; thence easterly to the Southerly point of Parker's island; thence easterly to the westerly termination of the line dividing the towns of Wolfborough and Alton; and all the lands and waters lying northerly of Said line and between that and Said towns of Moultonborough, Tuftonborough and Wolfborough shall constitute a part of Said County of Carroll; and all the lands and waters lying Southerly of Said line and between that and said towns of Meredith, Gilford and Alton Shall constitute a part of Said County of Belknap."

On March 23, 1897, the boundary line between Belknap and Carroll Counties was established as follows:

"The County of Belknap is bounded thus: beginning at the easterly corner of Pittsfield; thence by the northerly lines of Pittsfield, Loudon, Canterbury, Northfield, and Franklin to the westerly line of Sanbornton; thence by the westerly lines of Sanbornton and New Hampton to the southerly line of Ashland; thence by the southerly line of Ashland and Holderness to the westerly line of Center Harbor; thence by the westerly line of Center Harbor to the northerly corner of Center Harbor; thence by the northerly line of Center Harbor to the easterly termination of the line separating the towns of Center Harbor and Moultonborough; thence easterly to the southerly point of Long Island in Winnipesaukee Lake; thence easterly to the southerly part of Parker's Island; thence easterly to the northwesterly end of Keniston's Island, sometimes called Baker's Island; Thence along the southerly shore of said island to the easterly end of the same: thence to the westerly termination of the line separating the towns of Wolfeborough and Alton; thence on the northerly line of Alton to the northerly corner of New Durham; thence by the county of Strafford to the bound first mentioned.

"All of the islands in said Lake Winnipesaukee lying southerly of said line, excepting Diamond Island, and between the easterly and westerly lines of Alton shall belong to and become a part of said Alton, and all the Islands in said lake lying north of said line, between the easterly and westerly lines of Wolfeborough, shall belong to and become a part of said Wolfeborough."

THE COUNTIES

When New Hampshire was a part of the colony of Massachusetts Bay, from 1641 to 1679, the principal towns of New Hampshire were part of Norfolk county in Massachusetts. New Hampshire did not divide herself into counties, however, until 1769, six years before the Revolution. In that year the five counties of Rockingham, Strafford, Hillsborough, Cheshire and Grafton were established.

Coos was the sixth county, established in 1803. Merrimack was established in 1823, Sullivan in 1827, and Belknap and Carroll in 1840. Since the original division into counties the legislature on twenty occasions has amended and changed the layout. The following is a list of counties in their customary order, giving the name of each, the date of its establishment and the place of the county seat.

Name	Date	County Seat
Belknap	1840	Laconia
Carroll	1840	Ossipee
Cheshire	1769	Keene
Coos	1803	Lancaster
Grafton	1769	Haverhill
Hillsborough	1769	Nashua
Merrimack	1823	Concord
Rockingham	1769	Exeter
Strafford	1769	Dover
Sullivan	1827	Newport

Belknap county takes in the lake region in the central part of the state. Dr. Jeremy Belknap, minister at Portsmouth was the author of a history of the state of New Hampshire. It includes the city of Laconia and ten towns.

Carroll county is in the east central part of the state and is sparsely settled. Charles Carroll was a signer of the Declaration of Independence and represented Maryland in the first Congress. He died in 1832. It includes eighteen towns.

Cheshire county is in the southwestern corner of the state. Cheshire, England, was the home of Admiral Vernon, who commanded a British fleet and was a relative of the Wentworth governors. It includes the city of Keene and twenty-two towns.

Coos county is in the northern part of the state and is the largest county. It was named after an Indian word meaning "crooked" and was so called on account of the bend in the Connecticut River. It has an area of about a million acres and includes the city of Berlin and twenty-one towns.

Grafton county is in northwestern part of the state and large parts of it are sparsely settled. It was named by Governor John Wentworth for the Duke of Grafton, England's sixth Prime Minister and Secretary of State under Lord Rockingham, and includes thirty-seven towns and one city.

Hillsborough county is in the south central part of the state and is the most thickly populated. Wills Hill, Earl of Hillsborough, was President of the English Board of Trade and Plantations in 1763 and a friend of Governor Benning Wentworth. It includes two cities and twenty-nine towns.

Merrimack county is in the Merrimack River region in the south central part of the state. It was named for the river and includes two cities and twenty-five towns.

Rockingham county is in the southeastern part of the state and was the first part settled. Charles Watson Wentworth, the Marquis of Rockingham, friend of the American Colonies was a relative and close friend of New Hampshire's governor, Sir John Wentworth. It includes the city of Portsmouth and thirty-six towns.

Strafford county is in the eastern part of the state north of Rockingham county. William Wentworth, the Earl of Strafford, was prominent in English political history and a relative of the Wentworth governors. It includes three cities and ten towns.

Sullivan county is in the west central part of the state, and like Cheshire county, was embroiled in early boundary disputes. It was named for John Sullivan, and includes the city of Claremont and fourteen towns.

UNITED STATES SENATORS FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE

The following is a list of the senators from this state, and the years of service. One of the first senators, John Langdon, was chosen president pro tempore of the first national senate in 1789 and presided over that body until Vice-President John Adams qualified as president of the senate by virtue of his office as vice-president. Senator Langdon was again elected president in the second senate in 1792-3. Senator Samuel Livermore was elected president of the fourth senate in 1795-6 and of the sixth senate in 1799-1800. Senator Daniel Clark was elected president of the thirty-eighth senate in 1863-4. Senator Jacob H. Gallinger was elected president of the sixty-second senate in 1911-13. Senator George H. Moses was elected president pro tempore in 1925, re-elected 1927, 1929, 1931.

Senator Styles Bridges was elected president pro tempore of the eighty-third congress, 1953-1954.

UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Under the constitutional apportionment which provided for a house of representatives in congress, New Hampshire was allotted three seats. The national census of 1790 (first census) increased this to four, the second census of 1800 to five and the third census of 1810 to six seats. The census of 1830 reduced it to five, that of 1840 to four and that of 1850 to three. The census of 1870 reduced it to two, but the seat taken away was restored until the next census of 1880, since then the state has had two representatives.

Revolutionary Councilors, 1776-84

Article 60 of the second part of the constitution provides for an executive council of five men to advise and act with the governor. Before the constitution there was a council both under the temporary constitution of the Revolution and under the provincial government. Since 1913 councilors have been elected by plurality vote to represent population but previously to that they were elected by majority vote to represent property, and in the colonial days they were appointed.

The following is a complete list of all the councilors since the Revolution giving the name and address of each and the year in which he was elected or appointed.

*Did not accept office; Edward H. Cullen elected Feb. 28, 1967.

THE SENATE

The senate began under the constitution and first met in 1784. There were at first twelve senators who represented the five counties that then existed, five senators from Rockingham county, two from Strafford, two from Hillsborough, two from Cheshire and one from Grafton. In 1793 senatorial districts were created to take the place of county representation and each district elected one senator. The elections during the early years took place in March and the legislature met in June annually.

The senatorial districting of 1793 was changed over in 1803 and several times subsequently. In 1878 the senate was doubled in size. In 1915 the senators were elected by plurality instead of majority vote. The following is a complete list of the senators from the beginning, showing the name and residence of each member of each senate, arranged in the order of districts from 1793, when the districts were created, and previous to that year, in the order of counties.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Articles 66, 67 and 68 of the second part of the constitution provide for a department of state with a secretary of state who is elected biennially by the legislature and a deputy secretary of state appointed by the secretary. In the colonial period there was a secretary appointed by the chief executive, but no deputy. During the revolutionary period and under the constitution of 1784 the secretary was chosen by the legislature and given authority to have several deputies, but in 1793 the constitution was changed to provide for a single deputy.

The following is a list of the secretaries of state from the beginning, together with the term which each served and a list of the deputy secretaries.

SEAL OF THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

New Hampshire State Flag

STATE EMBLEMS

CHAPTER 3

REVISED STATUTES ANNOTATED

3:1. State Emblem. The state emblem shall be of the following design: Within an elliptical panel, the longest dimension of which shall be vertical, there shall appear an appropriate replica of the Old Man of the Mountains; surrounding the inner panel, and enclosed within another ellipse, there shall be at the bottom of the design the words of any state motto which may be adopted by the general court; and at the top of the design, between the inner and outer elliptical panels, the words, New Hampshire, appropriately separated from the motto, if adopted, by one star on each side. Said emblem may be placed on all printed or related material issued by the state and its subdivisions relative to the development of recreational, industrial, and agricultural resources of the state.

3:2. State Flag. The state flag shall be of the following color and design: The body or field shall be blue and shall bear upon its center in suitable proportion and colors a representation of the state seal. The seal shall be surrounded by a wreath of laurel leaves with nine stars interspersed. When used for military purposes the flag shall conform to the regulations of the United States.

3:3. — When Displayed. It shall be displayed above the state house whenever the legislature is in session and during meetings of the governor and council when expedient, and upon such other occasions as the governor may designate.

3:4. — Permission to Use. The governor is authorized to permit use of the state flag at such times and in such manner as may seem to him proper and reasonable, upon written application for the same.

3:5. State Flower. The purple lilac, Syringa Vulgaris, is the state flower of New Hampshire.

3:6. State Tree. The white birch tree, Betula Papyrifera, is the state tree of New Hampshire.

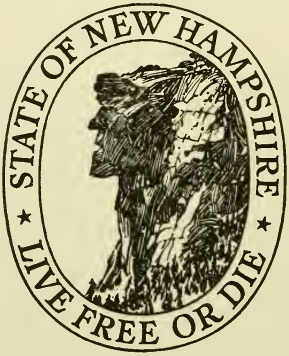
3:7. State Song. The song "Old New Hampshire" with words by Dr. John F. Holmes and music by Maurice Hoffmann is hereby declared to be the state song of New Hampshire.

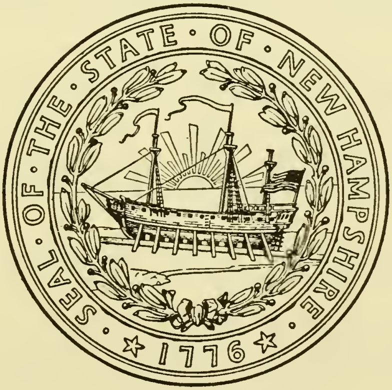
3:7-a. Second State Song. In addition to the state song as provided by section 7 the song "New Hampshire, my New Hampshire" with music by Walter P. Smith and words by Julius Richelson shall be the second state song.

3:8. State Motto. The words "Live Free or Die," written by General John Stark, July 31, 1809, shall be the official motto of the state.

3:9. State Seal. The seal of the state shall be two inches in diameter, circular, with the following detail and no other: A field crossed by a straight horizon line of the sea, above the center of the field; concentric with the field the rising sun, exposed above the horizon about one third of its diameter; the field encompassed with laurel; across the field for the full width within the laurel a broadside view of the frigate Raleigh, on the stocks; the ship's bow dexter and higher than the stern; the three lower masts shown in place, together with the fore, main and mizzen tops, shrouds and mainstays; an ensign staff at the stern flies the United States flag authorized by act of Congress June 14,



1777; a jury staff on the mainmast and another on the foremast each flies a pennant; flags and pennants are streaming to the dexter side; the hull is shown without a rudder; below the ship the field is divided into land and water by a double diagonal line whose highest point is sinister; no detail is shown anywhere on the water, nor any on the land between the water and the stocks· except a granite boulder on the dexter side; encircling the field is the inscription, SEAL . OF . THE . STATE . OF . NEW HAMPSHIRE, the words separated by round periods, except between the parts of New Hampshire; at the lowest point of the inscription is the date 1776, flanked on either side by a five-pointed star, which group separates the beginning and end of the inscription; the whole form and design to be as follows:



3:10. State Bird. The purple finch is hereby designated as the official state bird of New Hampshire.

CHAPTER 573

Offenses Against the National and State Flags
REVISED STATUTES ANNOTATED

573:1. Marking Flags, etc. No person shall in any manner, for exhibition or display, place, or cause to be placed any inscription, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, words, character marks, or notice whatever upon the national flag, or upon any flag, standard, color, or ensign of the United States, or upon the flag of this state, or upon any state flag or ensign of any other state, or upon any flag or ensign evidently purporting to be either of said flags, standards, colors or ensigns.

573:2. Affixing to Flags, etc. No person shall in any manner append, annex or affix, or cause the same to be done, to any such flag, standard, color, or ensign any inscription, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, words, marks, or notice whatever, or exhibit or display, or cause to be exhibited or displayed, and such flag, standard, color, or ensign, or any flag or ensign evidently purporting to be either of the same, upon which shall in any manner be placed, attached, annexed, or affixed any instruction, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, words, marks, or notice whatever.

573:3. Using as Advertisement. No person shall expose, or cause to be exposed, to public view, manufacture, sell, expose for sale, give away, or have in possession for sale or to give away or for use for any purpose, any article or substance, being an article of merchandise or a receptacle of merchandise or article or thing for carrying or transporting merchandise, upon which shall have been printed, painted, attached, or otherwise placed a representation of any such flag, standard, color, or ensign, to advertise, call attention to, decorate, mark, or distinguish the article or substance.

573:4. Mutilation, etc. No person shall publicly mutilate, trample upon, defile, deface, or cast contempt upon, either by words or acts, any of said flags, standards, colors, or ensigns, whether the same are public or private property.

573:5. Penalty. Whoever violates any of the foregoing provisions shall be fined not more than 1,000 dollars, or imprisoned not more than six months, or both.

573:6. Exceptions. Flags, standards, colors, or ensigns, the property of, or used in the service of, the United States or of this state, may have inscriptions, names, actions, words, marks, or symbols placed thereon, pursuant to law or authorized regulations.

573:7. Display of Flag of Foreign Country on Public Building. It shall not be lawful to display the flag of any foreign country upon any state, county, or municipal buildings; provided, that whenever any foreigners shall become the guests of the United States, the state or any city, upon public proclamation by the governor or the mayor of such city, the flag of the country of which such public guest shall be a citizen may be displayed upon such public buildings.

573:8. Display of the United Nations Flag. It shall not be lawful to display the flag of the United Nations upon the buildings or grounds of any state, county or municipal property or upon the buildings or grounds of any college, university, school or other institution of learning, unless the flag of the United States is simultaneously displayed, and then only if the flag of the United Nations is subordinated thereto.

573:9. Penalty. If any person shall violate any of the provisions of the two sections preceding he shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

573:10 Repossession of State Flags. Any state flag that has been presented in behalf of the state of New Hampshire to any person, group or organization and which is being used in a manner in violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, shall be delivered upon request of the governor to him or his authorized agent. Any person failing to surrender a state flag under the provisions of this section, shall be fined not more than fifty dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days, or both.

FEDERAL CENSUS

THE UNITED STATES

The United States is composed of fifty states, one district, one commonwealth, and five major non-contiguous territories and possessions.

The republic originated in the rebellion of the British Colonies of North America, Canada excepted, in 1776, and in the Declaration of Independence, the thirteen colonies in revolt styled themselves "The United States of America."

The Canadian boundary line is 3,900 miles in length, the Mexican boundary line being 1,975 miles in length.

According to the 1940 Federal census, the first basic re-measurement of the land and water area of the continental United States since 1880 showed a total area of 3,022,387 square miles, consisting of 2,977,128 square miles land area, and 45,259 square miles inland water area. The total area of Alaska, according to this census, is 586,400 square miles and the total area of Hawaii is 6,419 square miles.

The Capitol of the United States is at Washington, D. C. The corner stone of the original building was laid on September 18, 1793 by President George Washington. The original building was finally completed in 1827, its cost, including the grading of grounds, alterations and repairs up to that year, having been $2,433,844.13.

FEDERAL CENSUS OF 1970

The State. New Hampshire was one of the Thirteen Original States. Its population on April 1, 1970, according to the Twenty-first Census, was 737,681. The State has a land area of 9,017 square miles. In 1970 there was an average of 81.8 inhabitants per square mile as compared with an average of 67.3 in 1960.

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1970, was 737,681. This represents an increase of 130,760, or 21.5 percent, from the 606,921 inhabitants of the State in 1960.

This report presents final 1970 census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties, classified by urban and rural residence. In addition, figures are shown for each county subdivision, each incorporated place, and each unincorporated place of 1,000 or more.

The figures presented here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report Series PC(1)-A. The final report for this state will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C. 20233 or any U. S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

In 1790 New Hampshire had a population of 141,885 (Table 1). In 1970, 180 years later, its population was over five times as large. In the twentieth century, the intercensal rates of growth ranged from a low of 2.9 per cent to a record high of 21.5 per cent. In 1900 the population of the State was 411,588, and in 1960 it was 606,921.

Urban and rural residence. — According to the definition adopted for use in the 1970 census, the urban population comprises all persons living in urbanized areas and in places of 2,500 inhabitants or more outside urbanized areas. More specifically, the urban population consists of all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, villages, boroughs (except in Alaska), and towns (except in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin), but excluding those persons living in the rural portions of extended cities (see "Urbanized areas," below); (b) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more; and (c) other territory, incorporated or unincorporated, included in urbanized areas. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas. — An urbanized area generally contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and includes that portion of the surrounding territory, whether incorporated or unincorporated, which meets specified criteria relating to population density. There are a few urbanized areas which are based on "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000. Some urbanized areas contain one or more incorporated places designated as "extended cities." These places are so designated because they have one or more large portions (normally at the boundary of the city) with relatively low population density. These portions are classified as rural and the residents are not included in the population of the urbanized area.

County subdivisions. — The Census Bureau presents statistics for subdivisions of counties, as follows:

(a) By minor civil divisions in 28 States — Arkansas, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

(b) By census county divisions in 21 States — Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Kentucky, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

(c) In Alaska, by boroughs and reservations for those census divisions (the county equivalent) which are so subdivided.

Minor civil divisions (townships, districts, etc.) are the primary political divisions into which counties are subdivided. In some States, incorporated places are minor civil divisions in their own right. In other States they are subordinate to the minor civil division in which they are located, or the pattern is mixed — some incorporated places are independent minor civil divisions and others are subordinate to the minor civil division.

Census county divisions represent community areas which have been defined in recent decades by the Census Bureau with the cooperation of the Governors and State and local officials. These areas have physical features (roads, streams, etc.) as boundaries or follow the limits of incorporated places. The census county divisions in these States have replaced a variety of minor civil divisions which were unsatisfactory for statistical purposes principally because their boundaries frequently changed, were imaginary lines, or were not well known by many of the inhabitants.

Incorporated places. — Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages, with the following exceptions: (a) boroughs in Alaska, and (b) towns in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin. For extended cities (see "Urbanized areas" above), the data in table 2 refer to all of the population residing within the corporate limits of the city. For these cities, table 3 shows the urban and rural parts separately; comparable 1960 data are not available because this concept was not used prior to 1970.

Unincorporated places. — As in the 1950 and 1960 censuses, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for closely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3, and are identified with the letter "U."

Boundary changes. — The boundaries of some of the areas shown in this report may have changed between 1960 and 1970. The 1960 figures given here have generally not been adjusted for such changes. Specific information on the changes will be presented in the Series PC(1)-A final report for this State.

Percents and symbols. — Percents which round to less than 0.1 are shown as zero. A dash "—" signifies zero. Three dots ". . ." mean not applicable. Minus sign preceding a figure denotes decrease. The symbol "NA" means not available, and "U" means that the place is unincorporated. In table 3, an asterisk "*" denotes an incorporated place under 2,500 located in an urbanized area.

*According to the new urban definition, the urban population comprises persons residing in urban territory but not necessarily in an urban place, which is defined as an incorporated place of 2,500 or more, or an unincorporated place of 2,500 or more located outside an urbanized area. Under the old definition, incorporated places of 2,500 or more and places urban under special rule are classified as urban places.

[1] Includes 4,308 persons in urban territory outside of urban places.

[2] Includes 2,186 persons in urban territory outside of urban places.

[3] These data not included in 1970 U. S. Census Advanced Report, which is the source for 1970 data in this edition of the N. H. Manual.

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY, 1972

A Presidential Primary was held March 7, 1972 for the choice of delegates to the national conventions.

The Republican party elected ten delegates at large and each had a full vote in the convention, and also two delegates from each of the two congressional districts, each with a full vote in the convention.

The Democratic party elected ten delegates from each Congressional District, and ten alternate delegates from each Congressional District, each with nine-tenths of a vote in the convention.

The following summary tables show the names of the candidates for delegates at large, their alternates; district delegates and their alternates; with the number of votes for each; and the person, if any, to whom each was favorable or pledged is enclosed in parentheses.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY

Office of the Secretary of State
Concord, New Hampshire
March 20, 1972

As authorized under Section 8, Chapter 57 of the RSA, you are hereby notified of the official count of ballots cast for Delegates at Large, Alternate Delegates at Large, District Delegates and Alternate District Delegates elected at the Presidential Primary as of March 7, 1972. Names designated by an asterisk are declared elected as Delegates to the Republican National Convention, to be held in San Diego, California, on August 21, 1972.

DIRECT PRIMARY

September 12, 1972

DIRECT PRIMARY, 1972

Persons voted for at a primary, who received a plurality of all the votes cast by a party, shall be candidates of that party for the office designated in the ballot. – RSA 56:53.

The direct primary election was held September 12, 1972, with candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties participating.

In the summary immediately following are the full names and residences of the candidates, also their total votes. Then follow tables carrying the vote in detail and giving only the last names of the candidates.

The first tables give by counties the vote for Governor and U. S. Senator. The next tables give by districts the votes for Representatives in Congress, the votes for Councilors, and the votes for State Senators. Then follow the tables showing the votes for county offices, and recounts after the Primary.

RECOUNTS AFTER THE PRIMARY

After the Primary, ten recounts of ballots were conducted by the Secretary of State, October 2, 1972; three recounts were Republican contests, and seven were Democratic contests.

One of the recounts resulted in a change in Cheshire County Representative District No. 1 – Republican. The other recounts did not result in a change of nominee.

In Grafton County Representative District No. 6 – Republican, the recount resulted in a tie vote between Paul I. LaMott and Ezra B. Mann II. The tie was broken by drawing lots and Ezra B. Mann II won the tie.

Following are the tables, with the nominees of the Republican and Democratic parties indicated by an asterisk.

REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM

PREAMBLE TO THE 1972 REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION PLATFORM

We, the Republican Party in Convention assembled at Manchester, on Saturday, the 30th day of September in the year of Our Lord 1972 do hereby adopt the following statements of principle and beliefs for our Party for the next biennium of the State of New Hampshire.

We must attempt to improve government in ways which government can reasonably be expected to improve, with full realization that government will always face continuing problems. Our recommendations must balance desire to serve with practical realities.

We fully endorse the Republican Party's entire National Platform.

We reaffirm the Federal constitutional right to govern ourselves as a free, sovereign and independent state except for those powers expressly delegated to the Federal government, and we urge recognition of this fact by the Federal government.

We urge greater participation in government by all the voters.

We recommend that no non-funded programs be imposed by the State on subsidiary levels of governments.

We commend the action of the President in increasing oil imports to alleviate possible fuel oil shortages.

HUMAN RESOURCES

Social Services

In order to better serve the people of New Hampshire, we urge that every effort be made to improve our state institutions and to strive toward the re-accreditation of the New Hampshire Hospital.

We urge continued support of the Community Mental Health Clinics.

Education – Public Schools

We firmly believe the time is long past when there should be an in-depth analysis of our present public education system. We seek greater emphasis of Vocational education in our secondary schools.

The Republican Party reaffirms continuing support for assistance to non public schools.

Higher Education

Under present conditions, in higher education we will resist the conversion of Vocational-Technical Colleges to Liberal Arts Junior Colleges, and strongly support our commuter college expansion.

To assure continued public confidence in the University system we recommend that the University of New Hampshire subscribe to the same budgetary and accounting requirements as do all state departments and agencies.

We further recommend that a strong effort should be made to reduce tuition for in-state students.

We urge the University of New Hampshire trustees to reinstate the "Deferred Payment Program" for in-state students.

NATURAL AND ECONOMIC RESOURCES

Environment

Our natural resources and environment must be protected by the enactment of basic land development control laws based on sound land management factors.

We should continue with all possible speed the cleanup of our air, lakes and rivers; however, the elimination of pollution should follow careful weighing of the full economic impact of such action.

The present open space law is inadequate. We will support open space legislation which offers proper and equitable taxation on agricultural, forest, recreation, and wild land with suitable safeguards when open space is converted to other uses.

Recreation

We will continue the orderly and prosperous expansion of New Hampshire recreational facilities. We recommend that New Hampshire residents receive preferential treatment at state operated recreational facilities, and in hunting and fishing seasons, and in the assessment of fees.

We reaffirm our pledge to encourage orderly expansion and development of recreational areas by the private sector.

We pledge to develop the sport of snowmobiling under proper regulations which protect individual property owners and provide for planned and developed trails.

Industrial Development

We pledge to seek and promote the establishment, in our state, of new high-wage industry and to assist our present industries to develop to their fullest potential.

We recommend early development of agricultural and horticultural and silvicultural activities specially geared to our farms and terrain.

Transportation

We pledge to support,as a high priority, a toll free east-west highway from Portsmouth to Keene; and the extension of the Spaulding Turnpike to Berlin, and we support the development of a suitable mass transportation system within the state.

We strongly endorse the efforts of our senior United States Senator to preserve commercial air transportation for our state and recommend the development of a long range program for the improvement and expansion of airports and facilities for private planes.

Labor

The Republican Party is proud of the harmony in labor industry relations in our state and we pledge to support policies which will continue this relationship.

LAW AND ORDER WITH JUSTICE

We urge that the age of 18 be considered as the age of majority.

We urge mandatory long-term prison sentences without parole for convicted traffickers of heroin and other hard drugs.

We urge the state to solicit the aid of the Bar Association in a review of judicial procedures aimed at expediting the administration of justice.

We honor the constitutional right of every citizen to possess firearms legally but urge more severe penalties for those who use such weapons in the commission of a crime.

We endorse increased Resources for the Consumer Protection Division in the Office of the Attorney General to take full advantage of the services being provided.

OPERATION OF GOVERNMENT

All levels of government should be encouraged to operate as economically and efficiently as possible; and with maximum responsiveness to true public needs.

Adequate planning, budgeting, audit and performance controls should be encouraged on all levels of government with total public knowledge made freely available.

A strong conflict of interest law requiring full disclosure should be enacted at the earliest possible time to insure the public trust and confidence in all officials and their actions.

Annual Legislative sessions are a keystone to a more responsive and effective modern Legislature and we recommend the adoption of this constitutional amendment by the voters in November.

We endorse improved communication between local and state government to assure settlement of as many problems as possible at the local level.

We endorse the proposed Constitutional Convention which, if approved by the voters, would serve as an additional strong information channel between the people and their government and we urge active participation on the part of all voters.

Electronic roll-calls are needed to better inform the public of their Representatives' actions and more modern techniques and research should be adopted by the Legislature to provide a more solid basis for Legislative decisions.

State programs can be maintained within the existing tax structure without imposition of a general income tax or a general sales tax. We will oppose either of these taxes.

The impact of high property taxes on New Hampshire citizens must be alleviated through specific attention to methods to expand existing programs for tax relief for the elderly and general consideration of methods to strengthen and improve administration of existing taxes – particularly the property tax.

We urge the study and preparation of a fair mobile home law that carefully defines the rights and responsibilities of mobile home owners, park owners and our communities.

The matter of financing public education by other than the locally-assessed property tax, already in the Federal courts, is currently under continuing study, which we approve.

We reaffirm our pledge that the salary and wage policy for state employees be based upon equal work and that salaries meet prevailing rates for local area states. We should take care of those employees we have before we talk about putting on new ones.

We are in favor of increased fringe benefits to state employees and members of the Retirement Systems. We urge careful consideration of and appropriate action on the recommendations of the Personnel Management Commission.

CONCLUSION

Embracing many different philosophies, appealing to the people of all ages, of all conditions, of all walks of life, we offer these concrete proposals to assure Republican Party unity and victory in November.

DEMOCRATIC ORGANIZATION

PREAMBLE

The duty of a political party is to identify those needs of people which government should serve, to weigh their importance, and to develop effective, practical means to serve them.

The Democratic Party of New Hampshire calls for a coming together of all its members to fight for fulfillment of the needs of the people of New Hampshire.

We, the delegates to the 1972 New Hampshire Democratic Convention see the most important needs of the people as:

1. An immediate end to the war in southeast Asia.
2. An end to waste in military spending and a redirection of resources to more humane ends.
3. An end to regressive taxation, especially relief from the antiquated property tax system of local taxation.
4. An end to reckless, exploitive use of New Hampshire's land and water resources. Tourism, recreational use and sports activity ought to be aimed at a better life for all the people of New Hampshire, not at economic gain for a few.

The Nixon Administration has served as one of the main instruments of division within our nation, pitting young against old, squelching dissent, creating enmity among blacks, whites, Chicanos, ethnics, Native Americans. It has proved itself the friend of special interests and the enemy of the working people. Therefore, we vigorously endorse the candidacies of George McGovern and Sargent Shriver, and urge all Democrats to change the direction of our national priorities by supporting them at the polls.

It is with these priorities in mind that we adopt the following Platform and present it to the people of New Hampshire.

The choice is clear. People-oriented action programs from the Democrats, or an inept holding action for special interest groups by the Republicans. The people of New Hampshire will choose.

AGRICULTURE

It is time for land reform.

Each farmer feeds 47 people. The small farm owner earns little on his capital investment. His hours are long. He has many diversified skills. His cash return for hours worked is low. 47.1% of farm families earn less than $3,000 per year. Most farmers would prefer to stay on the land, but 200 American farmers are forced from their land every week.

Present programs set up to help the farmer have been designed to subsidize large farms often having absentee owners, conglomerates and large corporations. With the help of the Department of Agriculture, they drive out the small farmer. This trend must be reversed.

Over 87% of the land in New Hampshire is woodland. Some of this is in useful timber. Much of it is agricultural land that has fallen into disuse. The New Hampshire farmer should be helped to stay on the land. Those who wish to return to it should have the necessary help and advice to do so.

We recommend:

- better financial support for the College of Agriculture, the Cooperative Extension Service, and the Experiment Station at the University of New Hampshire to ensure modern research, training, and agricultural service, including use of natural fertilizers (such as compost, manure and minerals), to protect the soil, reduce costs, prevent further pollution and encourage a quality product for which there is a growing demand.
- restoration of operating funds for the Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory so that vaccinations can be performed every two years.
- new educational programs to enable high school students to acquire farming skills within the school system so that they may prepare for either the Agricultural College or immediate entry into farming.
- pressure on the federal government to enforce anti-trust legislation against conglomerates which purchase farms and agricultural products while producing equipment which they require farmers to purchase.
- tax relief for the small farmer. Present legislation has not provided such relief. New measures should be enacted in the coming biennium of the legislature.
- that the people of New Hampshire support the efforts of Cesar Chavez to bring about justice for migrant farm workers by boycotting lettuce not packed in boxes marked with the Aztec label of the United Farmworkers Union.
- reimbursement of landowners who keep fields open much as they are now helped for reforestation. Open spaces are needed for wildlife, birds, parks and recreation.
- continued support of federal efforts to assure that fruit and vegetable growers obtain sufficient seasonal farm workers at not less than adequate minimum wages, under adequate working conditions, and with preference for American residents.

- maintenance of lowest possible freight rates and continued good maintenance of existing highways.
- development of local markets
  a) County and state programs must encourage the small family farm to cultivate cash crops that can be marketed locally, e. g., berries. The new grape industry should be carefully fostered.
  b) A serious attempt should be made to market New Hampshire's agricultural produce here in New Hampshire. The state should help farmers establish Cooperative Farmers markets.
  c) Slaughterhouse legislation requires review. With the advent of federal standards, many of the small abattoirs were forced out of business, not because they were filthy, but because federal standards were unrealistic for small plants. This closed local markets for New Hampshire farmers who now can no longer grow beef.

THE ARTS

Whereas, the Arts should play an integral part in the daily life of all people, the Democratic Party will seek to increase state financial support for development of an Arts Program for all citizens, including schools. We must not forget that the Arts keep the people sane.

We therefore recommend:

- support for the New Hampshire Commission of the Arts to be adequately funded so that existing programs may be continued and expanded.
- assistance to the professionals in the arts and crafts so that their talents can flourish and enrich our state by setting up apprenticeships for young people.
- requirement that the State Department of Education make available, with full curriculum credit, instruction in the arts, architecture, crafts, dance, music, painting, photography, printing, sculpturing and theatre.
- encouragement for teachers in all fields to use the arts as a means of expanding the range of learning experiences and making subject matter more meaningful.
- education for teachers to include more emphasis on the arts.
- formal recognition for outstanding achievements in all of the arts.
- incentives to encourage private citizens to donate works of art for public enjoyment.
- legislation, similar to the Reihle Bill which was passed by Vermont four years ago, to require that all roadside signs be in good taste and in keeping with the architecture, environment and landscaping of the areas which they occupy.

- requirement that in the construction of official buildings one per cent of the cost shall be set aside and used for art work to enhance the beauty of said buildings.
- funding for guaranteed loans for self-supporting working people and for young people from low income families which would enable them to apprentice to professional craftsmen.

CONSUMER AFFAIRS

Current inflation makes consumer education and protection increasingly important to insure effective use of dollars available for shelter, health and personal welfare. To provide adequate consumer education and protection, we recommend:

- establishment, in the office of the Governor, of a Citizen's Consumer Council, with enough authority, independence and financial support to conduct investigations and to submit public reports recommending legislation in such areas as: door-to-door selling, recision, home repairs, land fraud, unit pricing of groceries, automobile insurance, meat and fish processing, itemized funeral billing, tire grading, garnishment-of-wages policy, public utility costs and interest rates on loans.
- enactment of state registration for electricians, plumbers, radio and television servicemen, home repair companies and all door-to-door sales companies.
- enactment of a state building code paralleling National B. O. C. A. guidelines.
- adoption of a meaningful No Fault Insurance Plan to help reduce the increasing cost of automobile liability insurance.
- increased funding for the present Consumer Counsel in the Attorney General's Office.

We strongly urge the abolition of the Mandatory Oil Import Quota System which has unfairly discriminated against the New England home heating oil consumer for more than a decade. The quota system picks the pockets of the New Hampshire homeowner and taxpayer in order to line the pockets of Big Oil. It must be replaced with a system which guarantees enough home heating oil at fair prices for our region. Furthermore, we strongly urge reducing the oil depletion allowance and closing other tax loopholes which benefit big oil companies at the expense of the consumer and taxpayers of this country.

HUMAN RIGHTS AND JUSTICE

We reaffirm our commitment to the goals of justice, equal opportunity and elimination of discrimination. Freedom from want is integral to social justice. We encourage respect for law and support public officials who exercise reasonably their duly constituted authority. At the same time, we urge reaffirmation of the concepts that all citizens, regardless of sex, age, income, creed, race, and national origin are entitled to exercise their constitutional rights, that each is entitled to equal protection of the laws, and that law enforcement agents are themselves subject to the laws.

To achieve these objectives, we recommend:

- that the Democratic Party applaud the New Hampshire legislature for the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment and urge its prompt application in the fields of:
    - employment, promotion and wages
    - financing and credit
    - home rental and purchasing
    - education
    - law enforcement and penology
    - social security benefits
    - retirement annuities and pensions
- that there be equal legal rights for fathers in matters pertaining to the custody and/or visitation rights of their children.
- that legislation be provided to better protect the children of our state from abuse and neglect and to insure them the right of due process under law.
- that the Industrial School be replaced by half-way houses and other more meaningful services for pre-delinquent teens.
- that the age of majority be lowered to eighteen as has been done in our sister states of Vermont and Maine.
- that the present abortion law, which allows an abortion to take place only after time of quickening, is antiquated and inhuman and ought to be reformed.
- that the rights of all persons to live in a pollution free environment be protected.
- that the Democratic Party support uniform, statewide contractual agreements between landlords and tenants which would clearly specify the responsibilities of each party including:
    - protection of landlord's property
    - responsibilities of the landlord for the maintenance of the property and continual provision of services necessary to insure the health and safety of the tenant.
    - prevention of retaliatory evictions

  - the responsibility of the tenant to fulfill his financial obligations to the landlord
  - the right of both parties to seek legal redress upon alleged breaking of the contract or lease
- that standards for mobile home parks be established and enforced.
- that support be extended to educational programs for disadvantaged youngsters, to Day Care Centers, and to health and preventive medicine programs for the poor.
- that the public school system place greater emphasis on the free exchange of ideas without fear of discrimination and on textbooks which portray realistically the role of women and of different ethnic groups and income levels within American society.
- that the compulsory Military Conscription Act of 1948 be repealed.
- that no draftee, against his will, be sent beyond the limits of this country except in a war specifically declared by Congress.
- that a "Blue Ribbon" commission, adequately funded and staffed, be created to investigate conditions in the state and county prisons and to recommend needed reforms to the state legislature for immediate action.
- that freedom of the press, television and radio continue to be respected, along with the right of the New Hampshire citizen to know the truth.
- that institutionalized persons be given equal legal protection under due process of law.
- that a statewide public defender system be established.
- that the Democratic Party reaffirm the right to individual privacy, including protection from governmental and/or corporate snooping.
- that the responsibilities of the Commission on Human Rights be expanded to include matters concerning commercial structures.
- that the investigations of complaints based on race, color, creed, national origin, sex or age in education be the responsibility of the New Hampshire Commission on Human Rights and that the General Court pass legislation to enable the Commission to assume such responsibility.
- that the New Hampshire Commission for Human Rights be granted the funds necessary to serve citizens of and visitors to New Hampshire in a prompt and reasonable manner.
- that stiffer penalties be provided for criminal conspiracies involved in drug traffic and that courts explore alternatives to the prison system in the sentencing of drug users.

GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS

In order to ensure a government of the people that is accountable to them, responsive to their desires, and efficient in its actions, we support:

Legislative reform by:

a. reducing the size of the House of Representatives and increasing the size of the Senate.
b. providing for annual sessions of the legislature.
c. providing for adequate compensation, office space and staff for each legislator.

Modernization of the Executive Branch by:

a. increasing the Governor's term of office from two to four years;
b. making terms of office of all department heads concurrent with that of the Governor.
c. giving the Governor the power to appoint department heads to serve with him.

Elimination of unnecessary duplication of state and county functions and facilities.

Assistance to local government by:

a. expanding home-rule legislation to encourage greater responsibility for administering services at the local level.
b. improving state technical assistance programs to municipal governments.
c. increasing participation by the state in funding municipal services, thereby reducing the heavy tax burden on local property owners.

Because the Democratic Party recognizes that present New Hampshire election laws are imcomprehensible to the average citizen and difficult for election officials to administer, we ask that our election laws be completely recodified and clearly drafted to:

a. prohibit candidates for office, other than the office of election official, from working within a polling place.
b. establish an office-type ballot and eliminate voting by the straight party circle at the top of the ballot.
c. authorize continuous voter registration by town and city clerks.

PUBLIC SAFETY

Increased highway traffic and rapid growth in the use of recreational vehicles in New Hampshire have resulted in a marked increase in tragic accidents.

We therefore recommend:

- support of the New Hampshire Law Enforcement Plan 1970-74 as it applies to Public Safety.

- expansion of the State Police traffic control section in line with the large increase in vehicle registration over the past ten years.
- abolition of unmarked police cars for traffic control.
- the adoption of a uniform traffic ticket system now under consideration by the Judicial Council.

We further support:

- a state financed program of training for municipal police and firemen.
- more instrument landing systems, Federal aviation towers and improved weather reporting facilities at all major airports.
- a State minimum standard building code.
- realistic regulations for the use of recreational vehicles of all types and provision of specific areas throughout the state where these vehicles can be used safely, with a minimum of damage to the ecology of the state and the health and welfare of its citizens.

HEALTH AND WELFARE

We recognize that it is the responsibility of government to ensure the health and welfare of its citizens. Government must be an advocate of the powerless. Economic prosperity still is not a reality for many segments of New Hampshire's people. Many of our citizens live in substandard housing, are malnourished, cannot find decent jobs, medical care, and the other amenities which the rest of society enjoys. Poverty is a socio-economic condition; not the result of idleness or inability. We believe that government, with its resources and authority in the whole society, remains an effective instrument of social change.

The Democratic Party renews its deep and continuing commitment to provide assistance to all our citizens, including the poor, the ill, the aged, the imprisoned, the mentally ill, and the physically disabled. To implement this commitment, we recommend the following:

HEALTH

- increased state support for a registered nurse and practical nurse training program.
- support of programs designed to train para-professional workers in the area of social and health services.
- support of a medical school within the University of New Hampshire system to be affiliated with an urban area hospital and/or tuition loans to New Hampshire residents wishing to pursue a medical career.
- full utilization of federal matching funds for community health services.

– reimbursement for public health nurses serving towns without a local nursing service agency.

– an increase in Medicare, an extension of Medicaid to all who need it, and the inclusion of medical and dental services.

– support for a program of National Health Insurance.

– stricter controls over lead content of paints and criminal penalties for violations of such regulations.

– expansion of the safety inspection programs for factories.

– support of family planning services, including full utilization of federal grants in aid, to all who need these services.

– legislation to require that over one-half of the members of boards of directors of health organization be unrelated to the medical profession.

– a program of Comprehensive Health Planning and development of comprehensive group health care facilities with greater participation by consumers.

– establishment of Health Maintenance Organizations based upon a pre-payment system of comprehensive health care.

WELFARE

– replacement of the welfare settlement program by direct state reimbursement of cities and towns.

– a requirement that all counties provide for distribution of surplus foods and commodities or adopt the Food Stamp Program.

– uniform standards for direct assistance by towns and counties, comparable to those under state categorical programs.

– dependency coverage for unemployment compensation and workingman's compensation of five dollars per week per dependent up to five dependents.

– establishment of a program of aid to families with dependent children or unemployed parents, or a guaranteed minimum income for all families.

– education and gainful employment for welfare recipients.

– investigation of welfare practices to insure respect for the rights of welfare recipients.

– repeal of present sections of the welfare statutes and regulations which deprive citizens on state welfare assistance of increases in Social Security benefits.

CHILDREN AND YOUTH

- legislation which will give the state responsibility for care and financial support for foster children, including those who may need special care. Participation of private agencies in the placement of foster children should be continued.
- provision of adequate family services for emotionally disturbed children and their families.
- legislation to prevent abuses of paternal rights that severely hamper the welfare of the child; including legislation to guarantee the right of a child in care to be adopted if he has not had a meaningful contact with a parent within a year.
- payments to families with mentally retarded children to allow the children to live at home.
- support of licensed day care centers.
- revision of present laws to provide that homes caring for more than three children under five years of age be properly licensed and inspected.
- support of a health education program for children to begin in the elementary grades.
- support of halfway houses for truant youths and for youths re-entering society from criminal institutions.
- removal of truancy from criminal action.
- clarification and restriction of the current practice of commitment pending investigation by a probation officer, in a delinquency proceeding.

MENTAL HEALTH

- support for the construction of a new administration building for the New Hampshire State Hospital at Concord.
- increased state and local support for, and expansion of, Community Mental Health Clinics, including mobile clinics.
- more adequate funding for diagnosis and treatment of social or emotional problems in very early school years to prevent the more difficult treatment of more complicated problems later.
- full funding of the two-to-one state-local funds ratio for Community Mental Health Clinics.

DRUGS AND ALCOHOLISM

We urge the State of New Hampshire to adopt a two-pronged attack on the problem of drug abuse:

a) a tough state-wide crackdown on those involved in the trafficking and wholesaling of illegal drugs, with stiff penalties for those convicted.
b) a publicly funded program for rehabilitation of drug addicts.

– support of treatment for alcoholics and drug abusers to include recuperation facilities with provisions for after-sickness facilities.

– strict punitive measures for professional drug pushers.

– increased emphasis on rehabilitation such as Odyssey House as an alternative to incarceration for all drug users.

– more assistance to drug users by the Veterans Administration.

– establish alcohol clinics in conjuction with Community Mental Health Clinics and local hospitals.

– expanded drug and alcohol education beginning in the elementary grades.

REHABILITATION

– support of the recommendations of the Vocational Rehabilitation Planning Commission, including:
  a) a department of Special Education at Keene State College, vocational rehabilitation internship and in-service training programs in the University system,
  b) creation of a Council on Human Resources to coordinate and to do joint planning for those state agencies working with people and to provide a comprehensive referral system to insure that all New Hampshire citizens needing help have access to it.
  c) creation of regional Child Development Centers.
  d) creation of a diagnostic center for the Department of Correction, for adults, to be located in the Concord area.
  e) development of a northern New England facility for the criminally insane.
  f) incentive grants to non-profit corporations for development of half-way houses and sheltered workshops.
  g) expansion of vocational rehabilitation service to County Houses of Correction.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND PLANNING

Because economic development and conservation are often contradictory goals, we support the separation of the present Department of Resources and Economic Development into two agencies, one to deal with economic development and the other to deal with environmental control.

To achieve both goals, we further recommend:
– research directed toward expansion and diversification of the economy and the discovery of new markets.

– increased state support for development and promotion activities.

– continued utilization of federal programs for economic development.

– continued implementation of the Technical Services Act to provide services to private industry, small industry, small farmers and craftsmen.

– support of cooperative programs among local, state and federal organizations to enhance economic progress, especially through the implementation of the Public Works and Economic Development Act, the Manpower Development and Training Act, and through wider use of the Small Business Administration programs.

– measures to continue the operations and to upgrade the facilities at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard.

– promotion of the tourist industry through an expanded system of highway information centers, a state sign system for lodging, meals and garage services and wide distribution of a well-designed tourist handbook.

– support of vocational-technical training to attract industries which require more skilled labor and pay higher wages.

– legislation to empower the present state planning agency to develop a State Master Plan delineating areas suitable for specific development and to permit variations from said plan to be granted only through public hearing processes.

– legislation to provide for financial incentives for regional planning.

– maximum use by state agencies of Federal Aids, such as Urban Planning Assistance Grants, and other programs related to transportation, open space, water and community facilities.

– close collaboration of state agencies with regional development and promotional efforts, particularly the New England Regional Commission; the New Hampshire-Vermont Development Council; the Tri-County Resource, Conservation and Development District; the Industrial Councils; The Technical Assistance Panels; the Rural Areas Development Committees and the Regional Associations.

– legislation allowing cities and towns to create cooperative tax districts for special services.

– support of measures, public or private, to lower public utility rates in New Hampshire.

We urge all businesses with defense contracts to plan for a peacetime economy upon the election of George McGovern.

HOUSING

There is a housing crisis in New Hampshire. We face a potential shortage of 50,000 habitable units, including 7,000 units for the elderly, in the next few years.

We also find that current New Hampshire laws give undue arbitrary power to landlords in matters of landlord-tenant relations. Although the recently passed retaliatory eviction law was a good beginning, we feel the next session of the General Court must take further action.

Because decent housing is a basic human right and because of the above crisis and problems, the Democratic Party recommends:

- a state housing authority which, in cooperation with local communities and federal agencies. will promote the building of low and moderate cost housing, including homes for the elderly and the disadvantaged.
- a state housing code.
- legislation to eliminate a landlord's common law ability to obtain possession of property from his tenants without court process.
- legislation to bar landlords from shutting off essential services, such as heat, water or lights, and to impose criminal penalties for failure to provide such services during tenancy.
- a stronger retaliatory eviction law.
- legislation to prevent a utility from discontinuing service to a tenant-customer on request of a landlord.
- legislation defining the circumstances in which a tenant may withhold an appropriate portion of his rent when a landlord fails to make needed or promised repairs or improvements, or in which a tenant may be reimbursed for such expenditures made on behalf of his landlord.
- legislation defining and protecting the tenant status of persons renting mobile home space, including provisions to prohibit restrictive zoning ordinances that are clearly discriminatory.
- legislation to authorize the quarantining of condemned rental properties in order to prevent further rental until such properties have been rehabilitated.

NATURAL RESOURCES

New Hampshire's natural and scenic resources are critically important to the future quality of work and leisure in our state. To preserve this vital legacy for future generations, we recommend the following:

- expanded planning at all levels of government to evaluate our natural resources and to devise and institute the best methods of utilizing and protecting them.

- protection of our great scenic and recreational resources, including our parks, Mount Washington and Franconia Notch, our seashores, our mountains, the Great Bay and primitive areas such as the Connecticut Lakes.
- support for the current effort to preserve Sandwich Notch.
- enforcement of existing laws pertaining to water and air pollution by the Environmental Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office, establishment of rigid pollution controls and regulations to insure a clean environment throughout New Hampshire, and recognition of the state's obligation to provide communities with assistance to meet environmental standards.
- legislation and financial incentives to protect salt and fresh water marshes, banks and flood plains, and to restore barrow pits.
- technological assistance to town conservation commissions.
- town and city legislation for flouridation.
- flexible powers for wild life management for the Director of the Fish and Game Department.
- opposition to any nuclear power plant without prior established proof that the site, operation and unique construction will not destroy the environment thereby.
- opposition to the proposed Seabrook nuclear power plant due to the lack of a regional energy siting policy, unresolved problems of nuclear technology, and unwise use of land, salt marsh and water resources of the seacoast area.
- revision of the current policy of reduced energy rates for intensive industrial use, with a view to conservation of energy resources.
- development of a program for placing utility lines underground in all new building areas and for converting them in established zones.
- improvement in the efficiency and coordination of state programs on Natural Resources in the following ways:
    a) reorganization of state resources agencies into a Department of Environmental Protection, which would include such agencies as the Division of Parks, Division of Resource Development (forestry), Fish and Game Department, Water Resources Board, and Water and Air Pollution agencies;

    b) enactment of a site selection law enforced by the EPA to bring about orderly, planned development of our natural resources.

– support of action to protect New Hampshire's waterways, to preserve their unspoiled and primitive beauty from unrestrained development, and to enhance their scenic and recreational value.

– support of legislation banning all no-deposit no-return bottles, and encouragement of individual, business, and government involvement in efforts to recycle paper, cans and bottles.

– expansion of programs to help towns and cities establish waste disposal systems.

– a strong state oceanographic program, with emphasis on regional cooperation, to protect our valuable estuaries and to achieve the full benefits from our marine resources.

– protection of the integrity of the White Mountain National Forest as a great multiple-use national asset of the people of our state, region and nation.

– development of an overall land and water use plan regulated by the state.

– since there is conclusive evidence that the salts presently being used on the state's highways is known to have a deleterious effect on both plant, animal and human life, and that with each succeeding year these effects become more severe; we propose legislation which would require the state amd municipal highway departments to prepare salt/sand mixtures which would not exceed 10% salt, the remaining mixture being 90% or more of a suitable grit which would remain on the highway and act as a safety factor during subsequent storms.

– to prohibit clearcutting and stripmining from being practiced within the State of New Hampshire.

– imposition of stricter monetary penalties for littering the roads and parks of New Hampshire.

– to follow the lead of California and other states by exempting from the state motor fuel tax non-polluting gaseous fuels such as propane, CNG (compressed natural gas), or LNG (liquefied natural gas); and by converting state vehicles to run on gaseous motor fuels.

LABOR

In keeping with the long commitment of the Democratic Party to improve the working conditions and security of labor, we recommend:

– legislation establishing a state minimum wage comparable to the federal minimum wage and providing full coverage for all workers without exception.

– opposition to any so-called "Right to Work" laws.

- legislation to protect the rights of all workers, and to include the passage of a strong collective bargaining law which will be in the best interests of all employees, including public employees.

- support of efforts to retrain workers whose skills have become obsolete through technological innovation.

- reorganization and strengthening of the Labor Department to:
  a) more adequately protect the safety of the worker by insuring an adequately staffed department.
  b) allow for more participation by workers in developing safety programs.
  c) develop more effective measures to prevent workers from being compelled to work overtime against their wishes and self-interest.

- careful review of unemployment and workmen's compensation legislation to:
  a) insure that all qualified claimants are aware of and receive benefits due them.
  b) include greater benefits for those who are unemployed and have dependent children.
  c) expand workmen's compensation benefits to include greater assistance to those who are disabled through their employment and who have dependent children.
  d) support faster and less costly settlements for claimants of workmen's compensation.
  e) grant more time within which to file appeals.

- support of measures to insure fair treatment of all state employees, including non academic employees of the University of New Hampshire System, i.e.,

  a) salaries and fringe benefits for classified state employees comparable to the average for similar positions in the other five New England states – equal pay for equal work.
  b) reforms in the evaluation procedures for classified positions as implemented by the State Personnel Department.
  c) reforms of the appeal procedure required by the Personnel Commission.
  d) the introduction of in-service training programs to enable state employees to improve performance, and incentives for successful completion of such programs.
  e) review of existing statutes prohibiting a classified state employee from making contributions to the political party of his choice and/or publicly supporting candidates of his choice.
  f) support the supplementing of Workmen's Compensation by the use of leave up to full pay.

g) support the provision of time and one-half pay after eight (8) hours in a day and forty (40) hours in a week, and for work on legal holidays.
h) support the proposals of increased state contributions to hospitalization insurance.
i) support the passage of an effective collective bargaining machinery that will eliminate numerous ambiguities surrounding bargaining issues that have hampered and diluted the true spirit and meaning that should be associated with any viable collective bargaining process.

- support of the requirement that state institutions purchase New Hampshire products wherever possible within the limits of competitive price and quality.

- support, on the state level, of the national platform's demand for adequate protection of wage earners from unfair foreign imports.

New Hampshire shoeworkers, especially, have been hit most hard by the injustice of this foreign import overflow. Factories have been closed, unemployment lines lengthened, wages are ridiculously low, organization of unions is hindered by the equally serious problems of employers – all this with no meaningful reaction from Washington.

Senator Tom McIntyre has introduced and fought for legislation to correct this problem, but has been totally obstructed in his efforts by the Nixon Administration. 2,500 shoe jobs have been lost, 20 factories closed. Representatives Wyman and Cleveland, with the obvious advantage of being pro-Nixon Republicans, have evidently not considered it in their best interests to intercede with the President on behalf of shoe workers in New Hampshire. Their opponents, Chester Merrow and Charles Officer, have committed themselves to reducing shoe import quotas. Therefore, all Democrats should work hard to assure victories for Senator McIntyre, Mr. Merrow and Mr. Officer.

Besides supporting corrective legislation, we strongly urge the people of New Hampshire to buy American-made shoes as part of the solution to the problem.

- support of programs to reverse the pattern of underemployment and low wages employment throughout the entire state.

- establishment of a citizen's labor commission in the office of the Governor to reassess labor laws as they pertain to women and juveniles.

EDUCATION

Outwardly, New Hampshire is heading in the right direction with an expanding educational system. However, the commitment to quality education is feeble. State financial support is nearly non-existent. Furthermore, the state is not responsive to the wishes of the people who demand financial relief from local taxation and who also demand quality education.

Without the desperately needed financial commitment, New Hampshire will continue to flounder.

Therefore, the Democratic Party recommends:

- improved educational services, opportunities and facilities.
- state assistance in efforts to raise standards by helping local school districts pay for improvements and by providing increased field services through the State Department of Education.
- utilization of talented people and private agencies as educational resources in local communities.
- some guarantee that all children, especially those physically, emotionally, psychologically or mentally handicapped, are provided for educationally.
- equalized funding per student.
- support of the concept that children are citizens of the United States and are entitled to all the civil liberties accorded to citizens by the Bill of Rights.
- guarantee of equal opportunity for all, including no discrimination in hiring of teachers by race, sex, age or creed, no discrimination in advancement and no discrimination in treatment of students or in priorities in programs such as physical education or vocational education because of race, sex, age or creed.
- abolition of corporal punishment of students.
- clarification and standardization of the new certification requirements by the Professional Standards Board.
- support of imaginative uses of time and talents of educators.
- equalized determination of salary scales and placement of teachers on salary scales.
- support of salaries for educators that are comparable to salaries of other professions with similar education and experience.
- modification of the educators' retirement system so that average final compensation shall mean the average earnable compensation of a member during his highest three years of creditable service.

- support of the concepts of public supported higher education, of expanded educational opportunities for continuing education and community service and of broader opportunity for more people through alternative forms of higher education.
- support for continued and expanded vocational, technical and two and four-year college opportunities within the economic and geographic reach of all New Hampshire citizens who wish to take advantage of them.
- drastic reduction of tuition of state institutions of higher learning so that in-state students of every income bracket can attend.
- support of the concept of state guaranteed student loans and of legislation to encourage banks to grant this type of loan.
- creation of a committee to study the feasibility of a deferred tuition system.
- development of an organized budgetary process and presentation by the University of New Hampshire.
- encouragement of the adoption of textbooks and materials that reflect the realities of society and the abandonment of racist, sexist, or ethnocentric textbooks and materials.
- establishment of cultural programs and the arts in all schools.
- increased use of educational television.
- recognition of public libraries as significant and essential, informational, educational and cultural resources and encouragement of federal and state funding for library resources.
- implementation of funding for existing state responsibilities in education through a major reform in the state tax structure.
- establishment of public kindergartens for all children.
- unemployment compensation for teachers who are out of work.
- equalizing spending among school districts. We support court decisions holding unconstitutional the disparities in school expenditures produced by dependence on local property taxes. We pledge equality of spending as a way to improve schools and to assure equality of access to good education for all children.
- support for full funding of Foundation Aid and Building Aid for Education.
- Extension of the federal school lunch and breakfast programs to all children in New Hampshire.

- enactment of a Special Education Act, similar to the states of Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, that would allow mentally and physically handicapped children to have the type of quality education that would facilitate the maximum development of their abilities.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Senior Citizens shall be able to live with dignity and security. To implement the provisions of the Democratic National Platform for the elderly, we recommend:

- property tax relief, financed by the state, for low income elderly. We also propose the prohibition of the sale of the homes of elderly who cannot afford to pay property taxes.
- elimination of all restrictions on Social Security income of those wishing to continue to work.
- an adequate housing program to be guided and encouraged by a State Housing Authority.
- maintenance of supplementary Old Age Assistance rather than reduction on the basis of recently increased social security.
- expansion of the Visiting Nurse Program to cover the whole state and to include free services and medication administered during such visits.
- provison of essential transportation for the elderly.
- larger subsidies for construction of new nursing homes both to replace those no longer meeting adequate standards and to expand such facilities.
- special employment agencies to provide meaningful employment and restoration of funds for the foster grand parent programs.
- an increase in the non-prescription drugs and medical supplies allowance for persons on welfare in nursing homes.
- extended donated food program to nursing homes where residents' social security is insufficient to cover daily costs.
- an immediate and thorough examination(including the participation of staff and inmates), of the prevailing and deplorable conditions at the New Hampshire Hospital, where some of the most helpless of our senior citizens are resident, and a commitment to furnish the funds for renovating that institution, not only to retrieve its lost accreditation but also to make available to New Hampshire people superior care and facilities.

TRANSPORTATION

We believe that sound and balanced transportation planning is necessary for safe and convenient movement, for economic growth and for wise use of natural resources.

Accordingly, we recommend:

– creation of a State Department of Transportation with authority over the present Highway Department, the present Aeronautics Commission and any program, present or future, concerned with transportation planning or services.

– the Department of Transportation should concern itself with the following recommendations to provide a balanced transportation network:

  a) continuing improvement and maintenance of our existing highways statewide and particularly in the North Country.
  b) passage of enabling legislation to permit the state to appropriate funds far enough in advance to take immediate advantage of federal transportation funds.
  c) utilization of federal and state funds for a first-rate network of airports and for improvements of navigational aides and flight services.
  d) improved public transportation and cooperation in regional mass transportation planning, including planning for the restoration of passenger railway service to and in New Hampshire through federal and state government action.
  e) full utilization of scenic easement funds and legislation to preserve the natural beauty along our highways, particularly through restriction of roadside advertising.
  f) increased state aid to local governments to maintain and improve local transportation facilities.
  g) control over transfer of railroad rights of ways.
  h) a Constitutional Amendment to change the Highway Trust Fund to a Transportation Trust Fund to finance all related activities under the Department of Transportation.

We further recommend:

– that the Democratic Party go on record as opposed to a toll road from Hampton to Manchester.

REVENUE TO SUPPORT THE PRECEDING PROPOSALS

The Democratic Party, in keeping with its long standing policy of seeking to protect the working man and the family of low income, pledges itself to make no further demands upon our citizenry for any form of regressive taxation.

We must work to effect economies and efficiencies in state and local government wherever possible; to support the enactment at the state level of general and more equitable taxes for the purpose of providing tax relief to individual local property tax payers; to reform the state constitution to permit the legislature to enact progressive taxes; and to support the end of preferential earmarking of highway trust funds.

Recognizing that the state can and should reduce the degree of dependency on local property taxes, we must work to accomplish property tax revision in New Hampshire by assuring a uniform method of evaluating local property, and to extend the re-valuation service of the State Tax Commission to all cities and towns.

Executive leadership and promotion of our natural assets, coupled with responsible planning and control to safeguard them, could increase New Hampshire's present revenue by increasing industrial and recreational development.

Finally, we must seek full utilization of available federal funds in whatever field they may contribute to the quality of life in New Hampshire.

GENERAL ELECTION

GENERAL ELECTION, 1972

The General Election was held November 7, 1972. In the following summary, the full name, residence, party designation and total number of votes are given; in the tables beyond only the last name and party designation appear. Republican is designated by the letter r; Democratic by the letter d; r and d, or d and r, indicates an election by both parties; a, indicates American Party; and ind. indicates Independent.

In each contest the person or persons, if more than one, receiving the largest number of votes, are elected.

RECOUNTS AFTER THE GENERAL ELECTION

In this chapter may be found a brief description of the recounts of ballots held by the Secretary of State after the general election of November 7, 1972.

The recounts were held November 28, 1972. In all, eleven recounts were conducted: one for State Senator – District No. 6; nine for Representatives, and one for Moderator.

As a result of the recounts, there were four changes of candidates:

For Representative, Cheshire County District No. 1 (Alstead, Surry, Walpole, Westmoreland), Anthony Stevens had 1314 votes and the recount gave him 1365 votes.

For Representative, Grafton County District No. 14 (Lebanon, Wards 1, 2 and 3), Roger M. Duhaime had 1804 votes and the recount gave him 1797 votes.

For Representative, Hillsborough County District No. 14 (Hudson), Paul R. Bergeron had 1714 votes and the recount gave him 1745 votes.

For Representative, Rockingham County District No. 5 (Salem), William J. Stevens had 3179 votes and the recount gave him 3166 votes.

Below, in the first column are the figures as officially returned to the Secretary of State following the election. The second column contains the recount figures. The names of the persons elected are designated by asterisks.
